Find 17 Who Leaped From Burning Bomber, On Island

B-36 Bomber Crew Members Being Rescued

Last Six Being Taken Off Island Where They Parachuted

PORT HARDY, B. C., Feb. 16.—(INS)—Six U. S. Air Force men awaited rescue today on desolate Princess Royal island where they parachuted with 11 others from a flaming B-36 super-bomber.

The radioman who sent the distress signals from the doomed plane was rescued late last night from atop a high island cliff where he hung head down for nearly 12 hours. He was reported critically injured.

Ten Others Picked Up

The 10 others aboard the giant, six-engine plane were picked-up by rescuers late yesterday and flown to McChord Air Force, Wash., where they were hospitalized. None was reported seriously hurt.

American and Canadian Coast Guard search parties awaited day-break to push about three miles into the rugged island forest and pick up the remaining six survivors.

The uninhabited island, one of the Queen Charlotte group, is located about 500 miles northwest of Vancouver, B. C.

Late last night two doctors and a picked crew of climbers from the Canadian destroyer Cayuga scaled a sheer, 3,000-foot cliff to reach Staff Sgt. Vitale Trippodi, 23, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Trippodi was found huddled under his parachute with both legs broken and gangrenous.

Carried Down Cliff

The rescue party carried him down the cliff and put him aboard the destroyer. He is expected to be flown by PBV to Port Hardy for probable transfer to another plane which will take him to McChord Field.

After reaching a crest, slighting in excess of 15 feet, the Shenango river started receding slowly this morning. This is the highest stage reached in several years, and caused the river to overflow in many low-lying spots. Quite a number of buildings in the downtown area had water in their cellars, particularly those near the Shenango river.

Both city and county ashing crews were on the job at an early hour today, spreading ashes on the main arteries of the highway system and heavily traveled city streets. The highway crews were called into action at 4 a. m. Enough of the light snow fell to make the roads and streets really dangerous. The workmen have been keeping busy throughout the day in their effort to keep the traffic lanes safe for travel.

One school girl underwent quite an experience on Wednesday during the public inspection of the new City Hall. A group of the youngsters were inspecting the new jail cells when one pupil pushed the door shut locking the young lady behind the bars. The services of an officer had to be called to release the frightened young lady from her temporary prison.

Harbor road in the vicinity of the Shenango river was still closed to traffic this morning due to the highness of the river. It was reported by the State Highway Department. Traffic which uses the road is being detoured until the water subsides. This is the only county road which has been closed to traffic it is reported.

Alliance Church Gets New Pastor

Washington Man Will Open Ministry Here

Rev. George Jones, of Washington, D. C., has accepted an unanimous call extended him by the board of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, to become its new pastor.

Rev. Jones, who is pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church in the nation's capital, spoke for the local congregation on Sunday, January 22, the first of three ministers heard in an effort to secure a pastor for the local church. His ministry at that time was very acceptable.

The board of the church extended the unanimous call to the Washington man who has written that he will accept the call. It is not known yet when he will take up his duties here. The new pastor and his family will move into the church parsonage located at 206 South Crawford avenue.

School Survey On New Building Sites Is Planned

Plans Are Started At School Board Meeting Last Night

As a step towards improving the public school properties in New Castle, a survey will be made to see where new buildings should be located when authority to build is granted.

Director W. Fulton Jackson on Wednesday night at the board meeting introduced a resolution authorizing such a survey and suggested that perhaps Pennsylvania State College has such experts who could be used. The board passed the motion unanimously.

Dr. Jackson's motion follows over a year's study by the New Castle school board on the condition of the public schools. At least three buildings are in bad shape, Lincoln-Garfield, Oak Street and North Street.

Need For Survey

Dr. Jackson suggested that the population of the city has increased and that perhaps present locations of school buildings might not be right for the present population. For that reason he suggested the survey and said the school board should have a well thought out program before it committed the district to the expenditure of any large sums of money.

The matter of the condition of schools has been pointed up in the past six months and there appears to be a unanimity of opinion that something should be done. Superintendent Frank L. Burton recently suggested that the board replace the Lincoln-Garfield Building, the worst of the system, and that steps be taken to replace North Street and Oak Street later.

One accident marred the inspection. Mrs. Ella Tidball of North Crawford avenue, having fallen on a rug on a stairway. She sustained a fracture of a leg and was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Among the visitors from New Kensington were Mayor R. E. Gardlock and Councilmen C. L. Schmidt, J. Krupar, J. Hager and City Clerk L. G. Heinle. From Farrell were Mayor Michael Nevant, Assessors John Panzo, City (Continued on Page Two)

Glaze Of Ice On Highways

Hazardous Driving Reported In State

(By International News Service)

Snow flurries last night and again today put a glaze of ice on many Western Pennsylvania highways and created hazardous driving conditions.

Cinderling crews reported for work early today in many areas. Yet the colder weather eased the flood threat in Pittsburgh. Today's temperatures will remain in the middle thirties, according to the Weather Bureau, and snow flurries will continue. Tonight's low temperatures will be in the middle twenties with a few snow flurries.

Cloudy and milder weather was promised for tomorrow. Northwestern Pennsylvania still suffered hardships as a result of severe storms which lashed that district Tuesday. Attempts to restore transportation and electric light service was continued.

Surveys indicated damage in the Kane area will exceed losses sustained there during the 1936 St. Patrick's Day ice storm. Many new power line breaks followed the thaw caused by warmer weather. Ice-laden tree branches snapped back into place with disastrous effect.

The president will celebrate with a sell-out through of 5,300 Democratic stalwarts from all over the country at the annual $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day party rally.

Dinner in Armory
The gathering this year is so large that no hotel in Washington could provide seating capacity—in fact so large that not even two hotels could seat the gathering. So, the dinner will be held in the huge National Guard Armory where the president's inaugural ball was held in January a year ago.

Last week the Republicans packed 12,000 into the armory at a "Lincoln Day" one-dollar box supper. Tonight's sell-out dinner in Washington will provide over a half million dollars for the Democratic party war chest. Similar dinners held in virtually every city in the nation simultaneously will provide an enormous additional fund to finance the party's campaigning.

Truman Will Break White House Rules

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—President Truman said today that he will break the White House rule against granting exclusive interviews whenever he chooses, because he's a free agent.

The chief executive's tariff remark was inspired by news-conference questions about a presidential interview carried in yesterday's New York Times, which set forth in detail Mr. Truman's stand on top international and domestic issues.

A newsman, mindful of the long-standing custom that the president does not grant "exclusive" interviews, demanded:

Was that interview authorized?
Mr. Truman replied with emphasis: "Yes, it was. May I say that the president is his own free agent. He will see whom he pleases, when he pleases."

"Like Schoolmaster"
The chief executive, like a schoolmaster addressing unruly pupils, then told the reporters:

You seem to be a little disgruntled this morning. Now, cool off.

A correspondent then asserted that he wasn't disgruntled but felt that the president, in giving (Continued on Page Two)

Believe Red China-Russian Treaty Has Secret Clauses

By ALLAN J. FUNCH (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—U. S. officials believe the red China-Russian 30-year pact is "loaded" with secret clauses making the Chinese communist regime just another Soviet puppet state.

Secretary of State Acheson and others are agreed that the treaty, as announced by Moscow, is simply "window dressing" for Chinese consumption.

Further, they point out, there has been no mention of the terms Russia has exacted from red China for the "questionable benefits" it will get.

Believe These Conditions In It
Some sources believe Russia may have obtained:

1. Air bases in China.
2. An "all weather" naval base for use of Russia's growing fleet of modern, snorkel-type submarines.

3. Critical basic minerals needed for scientific developments, particularly those connected with its military establishment.
4. Access and prior rights to any and all Chinese industrial output.

Probe Woman's Death At York

Estranged Wife Is Found Dead In Hotel

YORK, Pa., Feb. 16.—(INS)—Police today sought to untangle the mysterious death of Mrs. Kathryn V. O'Bryan, 27, found almost nude in her estranged husband's hotel room at York.

Police today were looking for another angle to solve the mystery. Her husband, Wallace C. O'Bryan, was released by police last night following several hours of questioning. He was put in the custody of his attorney, Judson E. Ruch.

No charges were lodged against O'Bryan, police said. A bandanna around Mrs. O'Bryan's throat was not sufficiently tight to have caused death, according to Dr. Albert Jackson who pronounced her dead. Jackson said there was a "redness" around the throat.

Found Wife Dead
O'Bryan told police he found his wife dead of illuminating gas when he returned to his Beaver hotel room yesterday. He started divorce proceedings a week ago charging indignities.

Sell said there is no reason "to suppose that Mrs. O'Bryan committed suicide."

An unidentified person notified police of the death and when an inhallator squad arrived at the hotel, O'Bryan was found in a hotel hallway near the room.

Churchill Takes Leaf From Notebook Of Mark Twain

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Winston Churchill took a leaf from the notebook of Mark Twain today and declared that reports of his death were greatly exaggerated.

The former British wartime prime minister said: "I have been informed that in many quarters a rumor has spread that I died this morning but it's quite untrue."

The Conservative party leader, called the rumor a "good sample" of a "whispering campaign" he said is being set afoot.

He added: "It would have been more artistic to have kept this one for polling day."

Rumors that the 75-year-old Churchill was in ill health were emphatically denied earlier by his secretariat.

Some Operators Believe Miners Plan To Return

Negotiations On New Contract Are Still In Progress

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Government pressure prevented a 24-hour recess in soft coal talks today as John L. Lewis and the mine owners failed again to break their long negotiating deadlock.

After a three-hour session this morning, the union and industry negotiators voted to adjourn their discussions until 10 a. m., EST, tomorrow but President Truman's representative in the talks blocked the move.

By PHILLIPS J. PECK (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Some soft coal operators expressed belief today that John L. Lewis' 350,000 striking miners may start back to work next Monday.

Although pessimistic about the court-ordered bargaining talks now in progress, these operators feel that the union might end the walkout to mitigate any contempt of court penalty and to relieve a fuel emergency that is growing worse daily.

One of the private claims of the United Mine Workers organization is that mine shutdowns have never been extended to the point where the country's welfare was seriously endangered and there was real suffering or hardship from lack of coal.

In Past Occurrences
Moreover, in past jousts with the government Lewis has never

Why do you blush, I asked my friend, your face is as red as a beet. Have you had your puss on a red hot stove, have you been in some furnace heat. Or have you contracted some funny disease that transforms your face into red. He looked at me with a cryptic smile and this is the thing he said. "I've just got back from the sunny south. I went down for a spot of sun, some surfing sport and some languid nights and some lying out in the sun. I went down there for a change and a rest and a rest is just what I got, but as for change the hotels took that and my bankroll I now have not. Which only proves that he should have stayed back here at home for his play, at least his roll would be fatter now, it's thirty-seven today."

Accident Occurs In East Lutton St.

Two sisters, Esther and Nancy Averso, 15 and 16 years old, respectively, were injured about 8:35 a. m. today in East Lutton street when an auto of which Miss Virginia Jacobucci, 1012 Summit street, lost control, and pressed them against a retaining concrete wall. Nancy Averso sustained minor injuries, bruises and cuts. She is also in the New Castle hospital. Some Of Famous Cherry Trees In Bloom At Present

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—One of Washington's greatest tourist attractions did an advance show today, but the sponsors of its program said there would be a repeat performance on schedule.

The unseasonably warm weather of January and February caused some of the Japanese cherry trees around the tidal basin to bloom.

The cherry blossom festival, which attracts hundreds of thousands of visitors, is scheduled for March 31, April 1 and 2.

But Edward J. Kelly, of the National capital parks said that despite the early blossoms, the unseasonably warm weather will arrive on schedule this year.

Last year the blossoms were sprayed with Hormones to make them last a long time. Maybe this year the agricultural experts can come up with a delaying Hormone.

THOUSANDS MAKE INSPECTION TOUR OF NEW CITY BUILDING

Clerk Leslie O. Clouse and Police Chief John Postis.

Mayor Henderson and party from Youngstown visited the building at noon.

Many officials of other cities telegraphed their regret at not being able to attend the inspection because of municipal affairs at home, but promised an early visit.

Wherever one's eyes centered, they noted a profusion of flowers.

One of the features of the inspection, and apparently a popular one, judging from the face of the visitors, was orchestra music by Jack Shepp's orchestra with Miss Jeanne Sokovitz, as vocalist. Throughout the evening, music and song was played softly and delightfully sang. The orchestra was provided by the courtesy of Lodge No. 69, B.P.O.E.

Employees of city hall, in addition to city officials, were at their desks, and in many instances, explained the various operations of their bureaus. All of the girl clerks wore corsages while the male employees wore a red rose. Courtesy and gloves did much to help win approval of the new building.

The men who had the foresight to construct the new building were members of a former council: Mayor John F. Haven, Councilmen Joe D. Alexander, D. O. Davies, Albert A. Hoyland and James Gibson. Building started in 1948 on the sub-basement and contract were let for the remainder of the structure in 1948, and the building was completed in December, 1949.

The structure is a 2½-story affair, or sub-basement and two floors. It is modern in every way and well adapted for municipal purposes. In the rear of the structure is a large parking area. It has a steel front but the rest of the building is of brick and presents a nice appearance, both inside and outside.

The distressed B-36. His foot tangled in lines of his chute and he hung head-down over the cliff for nearly 12 hours. Finally his screams brought two fellow-survivors to his side.

The two, Capt. Harold L. Barry, commander of the super-bomber, and 1st Lt. Raymond P. Whitfield, spent two hours freeing Tripodi from the tangle but "when we got him out of the tree . . . just didn't have the strength to move him down to the beach."

Six Remain on Island

The six survivors remaining on the island were reported clustered about three miles inland. A towering column of smoke marked their position last night.

Twenty-five seamen from the Cayuga and another 25 from the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Winona will join five members of Vancouver's Alpine club in the rescue attempt.

Barry and Whitfield were among the 10 flown to McChord Field. The survivors told from hospital beds their individual experiences.

At least two said they were threatened by wild animals their first night on the ground.

The 17 abandoned the ship when it ran into heavy ice over stormy Queen Charlotte sound early Tuesday morning. The super-bomber was on a training flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Fort Worth, Tex.

The men leaped into the icy darkness at 10 second intervals at 5,000 feet altitude. One crew member, Staff Sgt. Dick Thrasher of Chilton, Tex., a gunner, said he almost went down with the plane.

ingenuity, your ability to get things done.

"You Americans remind me a great deal of our Australians. They also are enthusiastic and aggressive. We are a growing country. My own city of Newcastle is 300,000 in size, but the day is not too far off when we will have a million people."

"Steel and tinplate and all sorts of iron products, coal and other minerals, we have them all and we are going places."

In the past two years there have been hundreds of Americans who served in Australia, come back to us as settlers and we welcome them. They will add to our greatness, help to develop our country. After all they are coming to a country that is similar to their own, similar in customs and actions and hospitality."

Turn To Right

"What about the political situation in Australia," was asked of Senator Alam.

"Like New Zealand we recently took a turn to the right," said he, "just as the trend is in all countries outside the Iron Curtain."

"The women were really responsible for the change in Australia," he said. "They outvoted the men and they, like many of our men don't want the government mixing up in all our business. I believe England will see the same result on February 23rd."

"Our people do not believe in the building up of huge fortunes like Carnegie did," at the expense of the working man. But neither do we believe in the autocracy of labor leaders who wish to assume unwarranted power in a country."

Seek Happy Medium

"In Australia we are trying to strike a happy medium, where free enterprise will be encouraged but where men and women are paid properly for their work. I believe we are achieving it and I believe you Americans believe in the same thing."

"What minerals do you have in Australia," was asked.

"Almost all of them," he said. "Coal, we have mountains of it, and geologists tell us that it extends far out under the sea for a hundred mile back into the mountain near Newcastle. Gold, lead, silver, we have them all."

"How about oil?" he said.

"Presently not much," he said but we are drilling deep and believe we have it. We have drilled ten thousand feet and got some but not sufficient gas pressure to force it out. We believe that with American diamond drills we can get down to the oil pool and show the world a fine oil supply."

After talking to Senator Alam for a while this writer got the idea that Australia must be the land of the future. A huge land with a relatively small population that is clamoring for development. A land that wants hardy men and women who are willing to work but who can be sure their work will pay dividends.

Wonder what the fare is to Australia?

State Bonus Bond Issue Is Sold Today

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—(INS)—A nationwide syndicate of 390 banks and investment dealers today bought a $375,000,000 bond issue from Pennsylvania which will use the money to underwrite bonus payments for World War II veterans.

"I am advised by the bond experts that an evaluation of today's bid shows that the commonwealth of Pennsylvania is fortunate in obtaining money for payments of its bonus obligation at an interest cost of a par with Michigan and less than New York, Ohio or Illinois," said Gov. James H. Duff.

The syndicate's bid was the only one filed with the commonwealth. A spokesman said the bonds will reach into virtually every state in the nation when the issue has been re-sold to private investors.

The General Assembly and the treasury has authorized a half-million dollar bonus. Duff said the balance can be sold later if needs warrant.

The Chinese communists may have succeeded in getting a promise of airplanes and military equipment from Moscow.

The red regime in China is in need of air power to administer the coup de grace to the remnants of the Nationalist government in Formosa.

The official Kremlin communique on the pact gives the impression that Russia will give up its rights in Manchuria, including Dairen and Port Arthur, ultimately. It also promises a $300,000,000 program of aid to the Chinese people.

Test Is Facing Truman's Plan

The practical side of President Truman's "point four" plan to arrest the tide of Communism and preserve peace by improving the lot of backward nations and people seems destined to be put to an early test.

Seventeen United States diplomats who met in Bangkok to draft a blueprint for saving what remains of the Far East from Red domination are winding up their work.

The Truman plan took first place in the list of objectives which if attained will solve the economic problems of southeast Asia and thereby presumably render it immune from Communism.

Other proposals made were, including continued ECA assistance and definite measures to revive trade between Japan and southeast Asiatic countries.

But "point four" stands at the top of the list. And of high importance in this connection was a statement made to International News Service by Admiral Jean DeCoux, former governor of Indochina.

DeCoux was commander-in-chief of French Naval forces in the Far East at the outbreak of the war. He knows the territory and he knows the people. His considered judgment is that an "impreachable front" must be erected speedily against the Communist tide and added:

"Politically undeveloped Far Eastern countries still require the protection of the liberal powers of the white race."

Strictly speaking, "point four" is not concerned with the political development of any backward region.

It envisages instead the raising of living standards, education, medical assistance and possibly spiritual encouragement.

It would necessitate the services of "economic missionaries"—men and women familiar with problems of backward peoples, possessed of enough funds to bring about immediate and salutary improvements, and blessed with personalities that would breed faith and trust in western ideals.

The latter is an intangible factor, but it surely is of enormous importance.

It is a mistake to believe that backward people are satisfied with their fate. That may apply to aborigines but not to the orientals of southeast Asia. They have traditions dating back thousands of years. They have in their midst the ruins of civilizations dating back thousands of years.

Something has happened. All around them are relics of great art and high culture. Modern architects could not try to reproduce such treasures as the temple of Angkor Wat in Cambodia or India's indescribable Taj Mahal.

Thus the starving people of the Far East know that something has happened in the passage of years to deprive them of their prosperity, health and glory—and it is human nature to look for someone on whom to place the blame.

This is where the Communists come in—not as the accused but as the accusers.

Their propagandists tell the natives that the fault can be found in the years of colonial exploitation by British, French and Dutch, with the alleged evils of Wall Street and American Dollars thrown in for good measure.

It must be admitted that the Soviets possess some keen advantages. In the first place, they themselves are orientals, know the oriental mind and have no difficulty in finding large numbers of chronic malcontents ready to throw in their lot with anything that might make the present state of affairs even a little better.

Reds Make Capital. The Communists have been making much capital out of an alleged American indifference to "point four" and point to the fact that many Americans believe that the United States cannot be expected to clothe, feed, educate and hospitalize the world.

The Communists delight in telling of the derisive "quart of milk for every hotpot" sometimes used by opponents of "point four" to ridicule the scheme.

HARBINGER OF SPRING

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Fancy Dinners Raise Democratic Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—In cities and towns around the country the Democrats are sitting down in hotel ballrooms to dine on chicken and green peas for which they have paid generously in order to swell the party's treasury.

This far-flung operation dinner is intended to finance the congressional campaign in the fall.

The amount of money being raised is truly impressive. The climax is here in Washington where 5,200 persons are paying $100 each for a dinner to be served in the National Guard Armory. They also will get a speech by President Truman for their $100.

At a dinner in Boston a few days ago 1,600 dinners paid $50 each and many were turned away. The attraction there was Vice-President Barkley and Mrs. Barkley.

The Barkleys have become the star turn on the Democratic circuit and they are turning down at least 10 engagements for one that they fill. As one ardent Democrat put it:

"We've Got the Barkleys" "The Republicans had to bring in Fred Waring but we've got the Barkleys."

At a dinner in Los Angeles 2,000 guests paid $50 each and 1,000 sent in their money too late for a place. The speaker was Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman who is also in demand in various parts of the country.

In smaller communities, too, the money is rolling in. In West Palm Beach, Fla., 600 dinners paid $25 a plate. In some communities a minimum price is set, with checks accepted in any amount above the minimum. Thus, in Minneapolis 1,000 tickets are being sold for a dinner on Saturday at a $15 minimum.

New York set the pace in mid-December by selling 3,200 tickets to a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria at which 2,800 sat down. Wealthy contributors often buy tickets and then do not bother to go.

Money Is Divided. The money is customarily divided between the local Democratic organization and the national committee. If the local organization is prosperous, then most of the money is sent to Washington. In the south where the organization has remained loyal to Truman, the custom is to send all the proceeds to the committee after expenses have been deducted.

Th Democrats strike a pose of noble self-righteousness about this method of money-raising. They like to contrast it with the Republicans who, say the Democrats, are subsidized by large checks from the fat cats. But we, and the tone is one of piety, must get our contributions from the little fellows.

When playing cards—canasta, gin, He keeps whatever he may win. And, since he has no wife to play, He doesn't have her loss to pay. From little cares which husbands feel, relatives of officeholders. Another category is that of prospective officeholder who turns in his offering in the hope of being rewarded with a job.

The bachelor is free; and yet, When night slips down and home goes he And in the door he turns the key An empty room is his to know. There's no one there to say: "Hello!"

Important Classification. But a more important classification is that of favor-taker and favor-seekers. Diners in this class would include contractors with big government contracts. It also would include large corporations with major decisions to come out of government. The front man for the corporation buys 20 seats in his own name, making sure the right people in the party and in government know where that $200 came from.

Then, too, since the victory of November, 1948, the Democrats have begun to receive direct contributions from businessmen. These have come in some instances from vice-presidents and members of the board given a larger contribution to the Republicans. There are large interests—a kind of new Wall Street—benefiting from the Truman defense program and from other aspects of government spending.

Republican Line. The Republican line is to talk poor and stress the box supper. It is to play up the $100-a-plate dinners of the Democrats. In at least one state, New Jersey, the Republicans followed the dinner technique, the GOP diners turning over to the National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson a check for $48,000.

The Republicans are going to raise a lot of money somehow. They have set a congressional campaign budget of $1,900,000. They now have ably staffed Senate and House campaign committees in addition to the national committee. That sort of thing calls for hard cash to meet payrolls and other expenses.

The recent GOP policy statement was tailored to the sensitivities and the prejudices of the party's big contributors. If it doesn't please and the checks fail to come in, then the Republicans will have to look for another technique. They, too, may be driven to the kind of mass dining that is so profitable to the Democrats.

State Police Say:

If you want to live to be 70, don't look for it on your speedometer. It is only common sense to say that an accident involving speeds of 30-40 miles per hour is less liable to result fatally to the drivers involved than when the speed is 60-70 miles an hour. The death potential increases in direct ratio to your speed.

Ten Best Dressed Men

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

For once in its existence the Custom Tailors Guild of America, Inc., has made sense. The Guild picked the nation's ten best dressed men and no one but a carping critic can question the decision.

General "Ike" Eisenhower heads the list, followed in order by Clark Gable, Sammy Kaye, Dan Topping, Arthur Murray, Lauritz Melchior, George F. Schrafft, Ralph Edwards, Thomas F. Murphy and Harry E. Gould.

Nice Niche For Gen. Eisenhower

It's very nice to know that General Eisenhower has a nice little niche. Most generals, when they shed their khaki and their stars, are forgotten by the public. Not "Ike". He pulled off the pants of Normandy and put on the pants of pretty. It is my guess that his selection as the best dressed man of America will cost him more popular affection than if he had declared himself against Mama, Papa, children, fireside and kindness to dogs.

By and large, this is a country of badly dressed people. Most of us wear ready made suits, and when they get wrinkled have them pressed by our wives. Most of us have a Sunday suit, or kind of best suit, and do our very best not to get it spotted, stained or wrinkled Mr. Eisenhower could have become president in 1948 had he chosen to run, and I have a guess he is going to make a try at it in 1952. I'll make another guess—he won't win. Two things make me believe this. One is the longer World War II gets behind us, the less we remember those who won it for us. You may not agree with me, but to most people in the United States World War II seems 'way, way back there. Time covers wars, and it also covers people.

"Best Dressed" Is No Aid

For a second thing about Mr. Eisenhower, the fact that he was voted the best dressed man in the country has got to hurt him. The average American, or the average voter, which is just the same, wears a vest, creases his sleeves, has two pants to a coat, wears white socks with clocks, and calls his dinner jacket a tuxedo. He's never been measured by a tailor, the average voter I speak of now, and before prices went all to Hades, his idea of dressing up was a $48.80 suit off the rack.

If I looked like Clark Gable I wouldn't even buy a suit—I'd just wrap my ears around me, put on a pair of trunks and hire myself a man to tell women who were in love with me that I was in love and wasn't interested.

Sammy Kaye has got to dress up—one slow look at him and you know that he should get a tailor who can cut a diving bell for him. Mr. Topping I don't know. It has never been my pleasure to meet the owner of the New York Yankees and that sort of thing. I've heard, in fact, that he is down and out, but is too proud to ask his friends for help. That's the kind of a down-and-out man I like. So many down-and-out people want you to sign their note or rent them your garage apartment for nothing or lend them $32.00 or $3.00.

Would Swap Honor

Mr. Murray, I assume, is the dance teacher, and I'll bet you he would swap his Best Dressed honor for a head of hair.

As for Mr. Melchior, I can only say this—he can sing and thinks he is cute. I think he can sing.

George F. Schrafft, the candy heir, is Society's gift to the Guild's list.

I do not know Mr. Ralph Edwards, but from the picture that accompanied his being tapped as one of the Best Dressed men of the United States, he looks as if he were wearing a ready made bow tie, perhaps made of leather.

Neither do I know Mr. Murphy. The number ten man selected is Harry E. Gould, a gentleman whom I also have never met, but since he was chosen I guess his paper business must be a thriving one.

That's all folks. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

As she was about to board the Queen Mary for the trip home to England, Mary Gaden was asked by a reporter what had impressed her most during her visit to this country.

"The American energy," she said without a moment's hesitation. "And the women. They are the strongest things you have in this country."

On first impulse we men who read that statement might resent it.

"What do you mean, Mary Gaden," we might say, "by calling women the strongest things—meaning that we men are the weaker sex?"

That's the way I felt until I started to think about it. Then I agreed.

Women ARE the strongest things we've got.

And do you know what makes them so strong?

THEIR WEAKNESS.

Seems like a paradox, but it isn't.

There is not one woman in a hundred that the average man couldn't lick if PHYSICAL strength were the criterion.

But ninety-nine women in a hundred can lick their men MENTALLY—if they use their weakness and their wiles as weapons.

In early life it is often physical attraction.

"Ten teams of oxen draw much less Than one hair of Helen's tress."

But was written by a sixteenth century poet—and it still holds as good as it held then.

So, attracted by "Helen's tress," the man marries her.

He gets used to the tress and to all Helen's other physical attractions.

But still, she has the better of him.

Many a time she is exasperating. Many a time Helen's husband feels like asserting himself and using his physical strength on her.

But he doesn't. Because she has a weapon against which every decent man is helpless—her WEAKNESS.

What can a man do when a woman pouts?

What can he do when she turns on the faucet of her capricious tears? So he surrenders and lets her have her will.

What husband who reads this can deny that, no matter how important he may be in his office, to his wife he is nothing but a child? He is nursed and fed and pampered, but always with that silent air of superiority which a woman can carry so beautifully by saying nothing but thinking a lot.

None but a woman can call her man a fool without opening her mouth. A funny little flicker in her eyes, a slight lift of the eyebrows will do the trick.

Do we men begrudge our women their strength? Are we ashamed of our weakness against them?

No, we are not, because we need our women.

"O woman! in our hours of ease, Uncertain, coy, and hard to please, And variable as the shade By the light quivering aspen made—

When we are angry wring the brow. A ministering angel thou!" (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

How to Torture Your Husband

DISPLACING THE TEST PILOT?

Navy announcement that Massachusetts Institute of Technology engineers have developed an electronic device that can test planes even before they are built appears the ultimate in technological civilization, and provides a new concept of what "advanced" advocates of push-button warfare are talking about.

The idea that machines eventually can displace their human creators entirely, and in an imaginative sense devour the race with efficiency, has been kicking around for some years and is a favorite of the pseudo-science writers and of some labor union leaders. But in this instance the Navy thinks its gadget has saved lives, and that the idea of feeding calculations and wind-tunnel data into an electronic brain instead of putting actual test planes into the air is entirely feasible and a proved success.

We doubt, however, that such doings will eliminate the test pilot for a long time, any more than the guided missile can do away with the soldier in a jeep or the ordinary citizen who must in the long run fight and pay for wars.

Electronics have long been of use in testing metals for all sorts of industrial purposes. Now they're used to help the engineer in his calculations. But actual in-service tests of the completed product will still be just as necessary as ever; the chance for human error is still there and cannot soon, if ever, be eliminated.

EGG PROBLEM OF GOVERNMENT

The question, "Who first ate eggs?" has never been answered. If the government knew, perhaps it could unload part of the mountain of eggs it has amassed. At the risk of perpetrating a bad pun, it can be said the egg situation is badly scrambled.

Members of Congress are becoming concerned over the future of the government's price-support program, under which it has already bought 72,000,000 pounds of dried eggs, for which there is no foreseeable market. Three dozen eggs are required to make a pound of dried hen fruit, which adds up to more than 2,500,000,000 eggs.

Farmers aren't happy over the present situation because they contend they are not getting a profitable price for eggs despite the government buying program.

Nor are consumers entirely pleased. They insist they are compelled to pay too much for eggs in comparison with the price received by farmers. Roy W. Lennartson of the Department of Agriculture told a Senate agricultural subcommittee that production has been tremendous recently, because of favorable weather. But he cannot understand why he has to pay 55 to 60 cents a dozen for eggs in Washington when the Iowa farmer who produced them gets only 25 cents a dozen.

Wholesale price of eggs has dropped 30 per cent in New York since the high of last October. Price of chickens also has slipped. In two weeks quotations for broilers went down 30 per cent at the farm, 18 per cent wholesale and five per cent at the retail level, according to figures offered at the Senate hearing.

If anyone can come up with a good idea of what to do with 72,000,000 pounds of dried eggs, the government would like to hear from him.

INTEREST IN CALIFORNIA

Gov. Earl Warren of California, Republican vice-presidential nominee in 1948, has announced his candidacy for a third four-year term as governor. This calls attention to the growing political importance of California.

Once New York, Indiana and Ohio all but monopolized the places on both major party tickets. California had one candidate, Herbert Hoover, but he won the presidency more because of his own national reputation as an engineer and a humanitarian than because he was a favorite son of California.

With the Golden State's great growth in population, it can expect to have more native sons run for president. California already has 25 electoral votes, a number exceeded only by New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois. The 1950 census may place it above one or more of these.

This large vote and California's political independence ensures that California from now on will often be represented on the national tickets, if the block system of casting electoral votes is retained.

Governor Warren's race will be watched, the more so if his Democratic opponent should be James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, as might be

Dr. F. L. Burton Will Be Named For New Term

There seems no question today that Dr. Frank L. Burton will be named to another four year term as superintendent of the New Castle public schools.

Under the school code a superintendent must be notified 60 days in advance of the expiration of his term that applicants for the position will be considered. Otherwise he retains the post for another four years.

Over a week ago four directors of the New Castle school board notified the State Superintendent of Public Instruction that applications would be received for the job. The law sets out that such notice must be served upon the district superintendent by registered mail.

Because the notification went to the wrong superintendent, it appears that Dr. Burton is assured of four more years service. One of the four members agreed the notice had not been sent in accordance with the law.

School Solicitor Robert L. Wallace said informally there seemed no doubt that under the act Dr. Burton was entitled to another four year term, automatically.

Senior high school auditorium will have a new look within the next few months.

The New Castle school board let contracts Wednesday night for new seats for the downstairs, a new stage curtain, new border lights, new Klieg lights, window draperies, and band and orchestra risers.

The seating contract went to the Hughes-Ogilvie Company of Pittsburgh at a price of $8 each for 650 chairs installed.

The band and orchestra risers contract went to the Hughes and Berg Company of Chicago, Ill., at its bid of $757.

The Pittsburgh Stage Equipment Company got the following contracts: stage curtain for $1173.40; border lights at $824.60; Klieg lights at $440; window draperies at $1131.75.

Authority was also given to advertise for lumber for a new floor. When the seat contract was up for consideration Superintendent of Buildings and Ground S. G. Ligo said the floor of the senior high school was sagging and no new seats should be placed until the floor was repaired.

Several of the directors asked why Mr. Ligo had not called their attention to the condition before the seat order had gone as far as it has. Mr. Ligo said he had not been asked.

It was finally agreed to ask the seat firm to hold the order until specifications for a new floor can be made. It is said the supports of the floor are not proper and this causes the sagging. If a new floor is needed, lumber will be purchased. If the supports must be renewed this will probably be done.

McCracken Is Given Leave

School Principal To Develop Book

It developed during the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday night that a New Castle school principal has developed a new method of teaching elementary reading that is attracting national attention.

S. Glenn McCracken, principal of the Thaddeus Stevens and West Side schools has been working on the new reading technique for several years and his text book as presently published is in use in the University of Missouri and in several reading centers in Chicago.

Mr. McCracken applied to the board Wednesday for permission to use the rest of the semester in further development of his text books and the permission was granted.

To Develop Books

He has been urged by educators in the middle west to take time now to develop further these books and they have invited him to come to the University of Missouri, Chicago and St. Louis to make personal observations of the use of the methods while he is preparing further text book material.

In his request he stressed the fact that he was not asking for a sabbatical leave, which would pay him part salary, but would expect no salary while he was absent.

The board granted the request.

President To Keep Citizens Guessing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—President Truman said today that the nation will have to wait a while to find out if he is going to run for reelection in 1952.

Mr. Truman again left the question open when he was reminded at his news conference that George Luckey, California Democratic leader, said a few days ago at the White House that he was convinced the president would seek reelection.

The president simply smiled and said that that was a conclusion which Luckey had drawn.

He was asked: "Did Luckey arrive at the correct conclusion?" Mr. Truman replied: "You will have to wait a while to see if it comes out all right."

U.S. To Make Demands For Vogeler Trial

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The U. S. will demand the presence of an American attorney and foreign correspondents at the Hungarian espionage trial of Robert A. Vogeler, International Telephone and Telegraph Co. vice president.

Vogeler's father and wife have retained Morris Ernst, noted fighter for civil liberties in New York, to represent him at the trial, scheduled to begin Friday in Budapest.

Ernst already has applied for a visa to enter Hungary and has asked for a postponement of the trial in order to have time to prepare his case.

Unofficial reports from Budapest, however, indicate that Ernst will not be allowed to represent Vogeler.

State department officials feel that even if Ernst is not permitted to practice before the Budapest bar, he should at least be present in the courtroom as an observer to see that justice is done.

The Communist controlled Hungarian government has informed the United States that the trial will be open to the public.

On the basis of this information, an official attempt has also been made to secure the admission of foreign correspondents to the court proceedings.

If the Budapest regime refuses admission to Ernst and the news correspondents, the State department is ready to let loose an official blast.

Lions Club Members At Volant Hear 'Barbershop Singers'

Old-fashioned barbershop harmonies were sung by sixteen members of New Castle's Barbershop Organization at the meeting of the Volant Lions club in the Methodist church of the borough Tuesday evening following the usual dinner. Nostalgic numbers were sung by the group and by separate quartets, with an amusing selection by their accompanist. Leader was Joseph Hoyle, of New Castle. This was conceded to be one of the most entertaining programs on the club's interesting calendar.

Due to the absence of King Lion Hillard, vice president, Paul Shaw presided at the business meeting. He introduced James C. Fink and W. Roscoe Clements, of the New Castle club, who were also representing the Lawrence County Chapter of the Red Cross. The Volant club accepted the responsibility of canvassing the borough and surrounding community for the current drive for funds. Paul Shaw and John Greer were assigned to Volant township and Plain Grove respectively.

Plans were also made to hold the annual Farmers' Night in April, and tentative plans were laid for the Fourth of July celebration. Committees for both events will be announced later.

Rev. A. B. Weisz and Harold Shaw, secretary and treasurer of the club, were presented with gifts in appreciation of their services in the two offices since the organization of the service group in Volant.

In addition to the visitors from the New Castle Lions, three other guests were present, and one new member welcomed. The latter is C. E. Clark, who has recently moved into the community. Guests were Carter E. Johnston, Clarence Martin, and F. W. Schmidt.

Places were marked for twenty-six at the tables which were decorated in the Valentine motif.

What Sunday School Leaders Are Saying

Sunday school says: "High goals have been set but if enthusiasm and hard work will make attaining them possible, the membership of the Third United Presbyterian Sunday school will 'ring the bell' of success in this year's attendance campaign."

Assistant County Superintendent of Schools Roy F. Conway has returned from State College, where he attended the annual state conference of county school superintendents.

Gen. Marshall Is Speaker

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Marshall believes "we are in the midst of a world revolution."

"The question is are we going to let it run over us or do something to meet it," the wartime chief of staff and former secretary of state said.

Marshall, who emphasized that his remarks were not directed at Communism, addressed 1,100 Red Cross volunteer workers last night in Philadelphia.

The revolution is taking place, he said, among the "little people of the world, who are learning for the first time how little they have and how much life might hold for them."

The revolution, Marshall added, can be met only through a true spiritual regeneration of mankind which is going to require that the individual, literally and figuratively, learn to "give from the heart."

He urged public support of the Red Cross blood program, explaining that "in event of a great emergency, more blood may be needed in a week than was used in a year during the past war."

BID FOR PYMATUNING

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—(INS)—John M. Ford, of Jamestown, submitted a bid of $377 for the food and refreshment concession at Pymatuning Lake in Crawford county, the Department of Forests and Waters announced today.

The concession term is for one year from April 1, 1950, with an option to renew up until three years at each year's end.

Ellis Hillard Hurt In Home Accident

Ellis Hillard, owner of Hillard's Market on Route 19, is confined to the Bashline-Rossman hospital in Grove City following an injury received at his home recently.

The accident is said to have occurred when Hillard had finished starting a fire in a small coal stove in his workshop. It is thought that some sort of explosion in the firebox hurled a part of its contents thro' the open door and struck the victim in the eye. Upon the advice of a physician, he was taken to the hospital where examination showed that while Mr. Hillard's glasses had been broken, no glass had entered the eyeball but that it was quite severely bruised from the impact of the missile which hit him.

Although the injury is not thought to be serious, hospitalization has been advised until later in the week.

Plate Lunches To Be Served In Cafeterias

School Board
Authorizes Action
In High Schools

Plate lunches, partially financed by the government will be served in the cafeterias of the senior high school and the George Washington junior high school for the balance of the school year.

This action came in the school board Wednesday night after Cafeteria Manager Mrs. Rachel P. Taylor explained to the board how the lunches had worked out in Benjamin Franklin junior high school, and also said that with more participation in the plate lunches it might be possible to reduce the price from 25 cents to 22 or perhaps 20 cents.

Considerable Argument

The proposal brought considerable argument from the board. Mrs. Taylor was asked how much surplus foodstuffs she was receiving from the government and she enumerated them. Among the free surplus foodstuffs received are potatoes, apples, cheese, butter, peanut butter, canned peaches, dried milk, tomato paste, and peas. She had sample cans of the products on display in the board room.

She also explained that the lunch served for twenty-five cents was in reality a thirty-four cent lunch, the government allowing nine cents per lunch for each one served school children. Teachers are not permitted to get the lunch for less than the full value, thirty-four cents.

In moving for the installation of the plate lunch in the senior and Washington cafeterias, Cafeteria question is whether the principals or the board makes policy for the system," said he.

Mrs. Taylor pointed out that the Federal government had appropriated $87,000,000 for financial aid for school lunches and that inasmuch as Pennsylvania was paying part of the bill, Pennsylvania schools might just as well take their share in return.

Mrs. Kleckner Protests

This brought a vigorous protest from Mrs. Elizabeth Kleckner, a director. Said she, "I am a Democrat and Democrats are supposed to favor subsidies. I am opposed to them, and I will vote for this idea only if it is understood the plate lunches are to be served for only the balance of the school year. What you Republicans (addressing herself to the Republican members) are doing is letting us Democrats buy your votes with government subsidies."

Mrs. Taylor explained that the regular a la carte lunches would still be available to those who wished them. The motion passed with Dr. W. Fulton Jackson opposing the motion.

Large Amount of Apples

The matter of the distribution of free apples came up during the discussion. Mrs. Taylor said she had on hand 225 bushels of apples to be given to the youngsters.

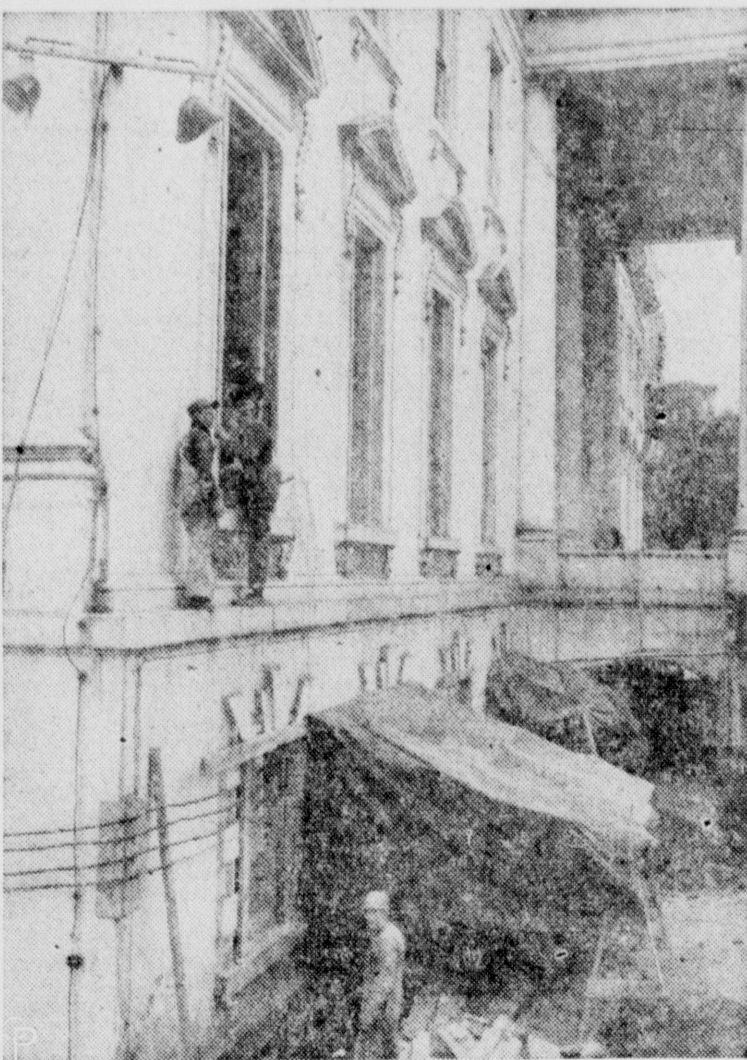

"Why not give them to teachers, too," asked Dr. Flannery. Mrs. Taylor explained that the surplus food was only for children. At this point Superintendent Burton remarked "there seems to be some hair splitting in the matter. Recently we had a model apartment project in the Franklin junior high school. This is a part of the school system."

"They needed apples for the project and the girls had to go out and buy apples at three pounds for a quarter. The next night there was a meeting in the building and there were ten bushels of apples in the lobby for folks to help themselves."

Mrs. Taylor had a couple of dozen of the apples at the board and put them on the board table for the members and visitors to try. They look to be good and those getting them said they tasted good.

Following the business meeting more entertainment is promised with additional films.

Metal May Help Balance Exports

TOKYO—(INS)—Japanese hope that titanium, a relatively new but highly promising metal, will help the country in the drive to balance her export trade.

Titanium dioxide from which titanium is reduced is found in Japan's abundant iron sand deposits.

Joseph E. Hirsch, of SCAP's Mining and Geology Division, stated that through new electrical furnace smelting methods Japanese are now obtaining the titanium that previously was lost in the slag.

Many Uses
Hirsch said titanium is a silvery-white metal half the weight of aluminum but several times as strong. Its corrosion and heat resistance are equivalent to that of stainless steel.

It is used in light bulbs, radio tubes and electrical appliances and could supplement shortages in structural metals.

Hirsch anticipates that Japanese production of titanium and titanium dioxide will not only eliminate the necessity of Japan importing 2,000 tons of titanium bearing iron ilmenite ore per year but will provide a surplus to bring in sorely needed foreign exchange.

American taxpayers now making up the deficit in Japan's foreign trade hope so, too.

229th Has Test Alert Wednesday

Various units of the 229th Field Artillery, including Headquarters Battery and Service Battery, of New Castle, had a test alert Wednesday, the event being designed to determine how quickly the men of the units could be assembled in the event of an emergency.

The alert proved highly successful. Lt. Col. George F. Mitchell stated. The batteries at Grove City, DuBois and Punxsutawney were all alerted at the same time. It was announced that there would be no drill of Headquarters Battery here this evening, the alert counting as a drill session.

In announcing my candidacy on the Republican ticket for Representative in the General Assembly from the Second District of Lawrence County, I will, as heretofore, exert every good influence for the best interests of my constituents.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16—The animals are really coming into their own in the movies, thanks to veteran film director Arthur Lubin.

Lubin's saga of a talking mule, "Francis," started it all. The rollicking tale of a mule who saves the day for the army in Burma with outspoken advice to Donald O'Connor, a genuine ex-GI who plays a lieutenant in the film, turned out to be what they call a "sleeper" in Hollywood.

Lubin owned story rights to New Orleans publisher David Stern's tale for a year. He tried and tried to get a studio interested in the story but the bigwigs figured that a movie hero who was a talking mule was strictly for the birds—the public wouldn't go for it.

Package Deal
Finally, he signed a package deal with Universal-International in which he participates in the profits of his labor of love.

According to the belly laughs that greeted the film at preview showings and its series of premieres before GIs recently in occupied Germany, the director expects to bank a goodly sum.

The director who likes to do off-the-beaten track films is going way off out of sight of the track in his next. It's "Rhubarb," the story of a cat who inherits $30,000,000 and a baseball team. It's based on funny man H. Allen Smith's rib-tickler.

The director currently is trying to line up an actor who will play second fiddle to a kitty. Bob Hope and Glenn Ford both have been mentioned.

Lubin is to attend the U. S. premiere of "Francis" tomorrow night in New Orleans, held there in honor of the author. Added touch to the festivities down south will be the playing of "Donkey Serenade" by 100-piece symphony orchestra.

Will Be Busy Man

Then he goes to New York for openings in the big town and thence to Chicago to look over a likely crop of actors there.

With all the furore going on over "Francis" and the forthcoming "Rhubarb," other studios and producers have jumped on the animal band wagon with such epics as "Bedtime for Bonzo," a story about a chimpanzee; "Harvey," which deals with rabbits, and "Rupert," about squirrels.

FEELS TOP HEAVY

Richard Todd, who had never met anything worse than a tam o'shanter has tangled with his first Hollywood 10-gallon hat and come out second best.

Warner Brothers' wardrobe boys were testing the actor in a series of western bonnets for his forthcoming role in "Lightning Strikes Twice." Todd resented every one of them.

"They're really ungainly," he protested. "I feel top-heavy. Do you westerners really wear these hats?"

Says Congress Can Wipe Out Syndicate Gambling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., declared today that Congress "can wipe out" syndicate gambling and its resultant political corruption by tightening federal statutes.

The former Michigan prosecutor predicted that the Senate judiciary committee of which he is a member, will authorize an investigation of racket operations as requested by Sen. Kefauver (D) Tenn. His views were given as federal, state and local law enforcement officers began arriving for tomorrow's "crime conference" sponsored by Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

Officially the U. S. attorneys' conference, the one-day meeting has been extended to include state attorneys general, mayors and municipal law officials.

The conference has a first-hand report on gambling to work on. U. S. District Court Judge Alexander Holtzoff opened a special grand jury report for the District of Columbia which said that gambling has become a "large, lucrative and well organized business which... has become interstate in nature and difficult to control."

Fostered by Government
Ferguson charged that under present legal restrictions slot machine operations are "fostered by the federal government." He said that the federal government collects taxes on slot and pinball machines but, by law, "keeps their locations a secret."

Ferguson would attack both this and race-gambling.

The senator, who served on the former Senate law investigating committee which conducted the Garsson-May and Benny Meyers inquiries, proposed federal laws to:

1. Ban the shipment of slot machines across state lines. He pointed out that Michigan, for one, prohibits the manufacture of such devices.

2. Prohibit the transmission interstate of racing information if it is destined for gambling establishments. Ferguson said this would probably mean amending the Federal Communications Act.

State YMCA Seeks High Level Camping

Pennsylvania YMCA is holding a series of conferences on camping that are designed to raise the standards of Y camps throughout the area.

Dave Gatrall, local YMCA program director, recently met with representatives from western Pennsylvania branches and conducted an informal, "paper" survey of the various Y camps. New Castle's Camp Rentz ranked among the highest in the area.

Similar meetings are being conducted in eastern Pennsylvania and the two geographical groups will convene soon with State YMCA staff members.

The first YMCA camp for boys was established in 1865. Since that time this organization has been a trailblazer in making better facilities available not only in Y camps but all camps for boys. The current meetings are a continuation of the pioneer movement for better boys camping.

Union Pallbearers Gravely Opposed

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Pittsburgh undertakers have almost unanimously opposed an AFL union proposal that professional pallbearers be used at all funerals.

But none of them want to go on record because, they said, they feared "reprisals."

Patsy A. Conero Jr., president of the new AFL local—the Professional Pallbearers Service—said his union envisions a long range program so complete that a funeral will not be held in Pittsburgh without the service of union pallbearers.

Edward Robie, a member of the local, said their plan probably would relegate relatives and friends into the roles of honorary pallbearers.

The new union was formally adopted by the AFL Tuesday. The CIO refused its membership previously.

Its union fee table reportedly calls for $3 to $4 per man, depending on how he is dressed.

Auto Parking Big Problem

City And State
Officials Study
Big Puzzle Of Day

By ED HAUCK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—City and state officials today are plugging away at one of the century's toughest puzzles—where to park the family car in the shopping district.

The situation becomes more acute daily with the growing stream of traffic. More than 2,298,000 persons are car owners in Pennsylvania alone. Roughly this means three of every 10 persons are fighting for limited parking space.

The economic future of some cities is darkened by the problem. Shoppers are weary of battling downtown snarls just to shop in the business district.

As a result, suburbs are mushrooming with parking places shooting up in the same area. This is causing shopping reduction in already built up traditional business areas, tax malnourishment of local governments.

Off Street Parking

"Off street parking is the solution to traffic congestion," said H. G. Van Riper, chief of the Highway Department Planning Survey. "The cars must come off the streets. The need is for more parking lots or buildings. Each city can decide which method produces best results."

The planning agency has already surveyed conditions in Reading, Meadville and Bethlehem. Allentown and Pittsburgh are trying to minimize the problem. Allentown probably will serve as the testing ground for all cities of comparable size.

Sixty Allentown merchants banded together three years ago to buy parking space for their patrons. They are moving toward a 1,200 space which they hope to complete soon. More than 860 spaces are in use.

The company owns seven lots which it leases to operators and the expansion program calls for a 150 car garage. Eventually its area will be increased by addition of floors and ramps.

To Start Parking Garages

Within the next several weeks, construction will be started on four parking garages in Pittsburgh which created a parking authority with the General Assembly's approval to deal exclusively with easing the critical shortage of parking space.

The garages, designed for short time parkers of less than three hours, will provide 2,100 stalls. The three to five story concrete structures will cost an estimated $4,500,000 and will be financed through the sale of bonds. Also under construction by the parking authority is a 1,000 car underground garage.

Philadelphia has set up a parking authority but so far has undertaken no construction. Easton is also considering erecting a municipally owned parking project in its business district.

The State Planning board reports that planning and zoning programs point the way to further solution of the parking problem. The planning board along with the highway survey are studying critical areas constantly and recommending steps to local governments to eliminate traffic congestion.

Schove Sentenced To Serve Three Years

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Judge William H. McNaugher sentenced William H. Schove to a three-year sentence in the Allegheny county workhouse for involuntary manslaughter and drunken driving in Pittsburgh's criminal court yesterday.

The sentences for each offense will run concurrently.

A. M. Oliver, counsel for the defendant, announced he would appeal.

Schove, a nearby Dormont real estate dealer, had pleaded guilty to causing the death of Glenn David Stierheim in an auto accident last September 28, but said he was in a mental "black-out" at the time.

Prior to sentencing, Oliver notified Judge McNaugher that preliminaries for a civil settlement had been effected. He said the family of Stierheim would receive $13,000 for personal and property damages.

A third man involved in the accident, Oliver said, would receive $13,400.

Charm Tops Sex In His Opinion

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—South American film director Hugo Fregonese, who recently arrived in Hollywood to direct "Death On A Side Street," thinks that movie actresses would have longer and more profitable careers if they concentrated on charm instead of sex.

Fregonese charged that bad points in pictures cannot be covered by uncovering the good points of its female stars.

He claims that glamour girls who lay their emphasis on charm always will be big names and will be able to find work as long as they can stand in front of a camera.

Top Ten

To prove his allegations Fregonese selected the "ten most charming women in Hollywood," and tabbed Angela Langsbury as the actress who best balances the ingredients of charm.

The nine other:

Joan Crawford, worldly charm.

Bette Davis, intense charm.

Irene Dunne, matronly charm.

Jean Arthur, just enough sex appeal, but oodles of charm.

Rhonda Fleming, natural charm.

Claudette Colbert, most homely charm.

Katherine Hepburn, sophisticated charm.

Rita Hayworth, effervescent charm.

Fregonese defines ideal C. Q. (charm quotient) as one-fourth humility, one-fourth sex appeal, one-fourth inherent simplicity and an understanding of humans, and one-fourth studied culture.

Many Requests Before Board

School Board Acts On Many Matters

When the new government subsidized plate lunch for students in the senior high school and the George Washington junior high school goes into effect March 1, the price of white milk will be reduced to the students.

Cafeteria Manager Mrs. Rachel P. Taylor told the School Board Wednesday night that milk served in connection with plate lunches carried a subsidy of two cents per bottle. Hence, the new price will be four cents a bottle instead of six as heretofore. The four-cent price has been in effect in the Franklin junior high school where plate lunches are served to students.

To Attend Music Event

During the board meeting Joe F. Replogle, director of instrumental music in the senior high school, was authorized to attend the mid-western orchestra festival in Butler March 2-4 and also to attend the all-state orchestra festival in Hanover, Pa., March 30 and April 1.

Principals S. Glenn McCracken and Joseph A. Hartman were authorized to attend the national convention of elementary principals in Atlantic City, N. J., February 25 to March 2.

The request of the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing for the use of Franklin junior auditorium Sunday afternoon, March 5, for graduation exercises was granted.

The New Castle Symphony orchestra was granted permission to use the Taggart stadium for outdoor "pop" concerts June 21 and August 9.

The Rose Avenue PTA was granted permission to use the school gymnasium two nights per month for a father and son night program.

Bills Are Paid
Bills in the amount of $13,015.60 were ordered paid and bills for $7,051.93 for athletics ordered paid. The latter amount includes $5,000 transferred to the building fund for payment upon the stadium.

The board agreed to join with the city in setting a new salary schedule for the city treasurer's office.

Director Paul J. Cuba, who represents the board in such matters, said he had been called in and had been handed the new schedule, which results in a yearly saving of about $500.

Director A. C. Hyde said the board had previously notified the city that it would not agree to any further salary schedules until the board was notified and became a part of the proceedings. The agreement to join the city was reached but it was stressed that in the future all revisions of salaries in the city treasurer's office must be done only when the board is represented, inasmuch as the board pays half the expenses of the office.

Present Requests
Miss Betty Brown, representing the New Castle chapter of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, presented several requests to the board.

The chapter asks that the $180 cost-of-living bonus given teachers by the board be raised to $200 and made a part of the permanent contract.

It also asked adjustments of salary inequities for nine teachers and the raising of the retirement age to 66 for the coming year. The latter had already been done when the requests came before the board.

Miss Brown told the board that if the $200 were made a part of the contract it could be taken off in times of economic stress. Secretary John B. Bechtel said he did not believe it could until all teachers had reached the state mandated minimum.

The matter was referred to the budget committee.

Will Seek To End Scandalous Potato Situation In Nation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—President Truman's chief lieutenant in the Senate moves today to end what he called "the scandalous potato situation."

Sen. Lucas (D) Ill., announced that he would introduce a bill this afternoon to place "strict and rigid" production controls on potato farmers who benefit from the government's price support program.

Although Lucas did not say his measure had White House support, as majority leader of the Senate he is recognized administration spokesman.

More than a quarter of all housing costs go to utilities—fuel and lighting supplies, gas, electricity and water.

'Curriculum' Cited By Peter Griffee At Garfield P.T.A.

Members of the Lincoln-Garfield Parent-Teachers' association met Wednesday evening in the school library. Miss Lillian Sarver, president, conducted the business meeting, with "Fathers' Night" as the theme of the program.

Two Girl Scout troops have been organized at the school, with Mrs. E. Amodie as the leader of the brownies, assisted by Mrs. E. Testa. The intermediates are under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Sakal, assisted by Mrs. Mary Aiken.

Delegates from the unit will attend the organization meeting at Rose Avenue school on Friday night, at which time a city council of Parent-Teachers will be decided. Those to attend are Mrs. J. Wilkison, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Peter Griffee and Miss Sarver.

Principal Talks

Principal of the school, Peter Griffee, was then introduced. His topic was "Our Curriculum—What, How and Why." The curriculum, no longer has for its goal "a mass" of subject matter for its own sake, but it rather consists of many learnings and experiences arising from genuine interests and real problems of pupils. This will produce well-rounded pupil growth and development. A good curriculum must be broad and growing in content and activity. It must give proper guidance for every pupil so that he will develop physically, mentally, emotionally and socially. Mrs. Griffee then showed a picture entitled "The School," which explained the curriculum. Typical classroom scenes were enacted.

Miss Maxwell's class won the attendance picture for having the largest number of parents represented. Lunch was served by the social committee, consisting of Mrs. Clyde Williams, chairlady, Mrs. A. Nocera, Mrs. J. DeRobbio, Mrs. Betty Allhouse and Mrs. E. Amodie. Valentine favors and candies decorated the prettily arranged table.

The next meeting will be held on March 15 in the school library.

College Training By Coast Guard

NEW LONDON, Conn.—(INS)—One of the finest schools of higher learning in the nation is located in New London.

In a picturesque setting on the Thames river, the United States Coast Guard academy trains young men for careers in the coast guard. The course given is that of a Bachelor of Science in Engineering and graduates receive a commission in the coast guard as ensigns. In addition, cadets are paid while in the academy, enough to cover their living expenses.

Cadets are selected by competitive examinations, held in February each year. The examination is open to all men between the ages of 17 and 22, who are high school graduates or seniors who will be graduated by June, and who fulfill the educational and physical requirements.

Unlike West Point or Annapolis, no congressional appointment is required. Young men who are interested can learn about the examination by applying to the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, Washington, D. C., for full details.

New Weeders Are Boon To Farmers

FORT COLLINS, Colo., (INS)—Farm mechanization will receive another shot in the arm as soon as the cycloid or scallop weeder begins pouring off assembly lines.

The unique weeder still is under development at Colorado A&M college at Fort Collins, but designers said it won't be too long before the time and labor-saving device is available to farmers.

The cycloid weeder primarily is designed for use on sugar beet areas. It can be used, however, in any row crop where the farmer wants a quick thinning method.

Big Saving

Co-Designers R. D. Barmington and Richard Claycomb, engineers for A&M experiment station, said the scalloping weeder will save more than $10 an acre in labor for thinning beets and other crops.

It is said to be especially effective in eroded fields because of the shearing action of the teeth. Weeds were reduced to a minimum both in the row and between rows.

And, designer added, the machine can be used in either single or multiple units. The units are estimated to cost the farmer $30 each when placed on the market.

TEACHING BECKONS

NORTHAMPTON, Mass.—College co-eds have a new interest in teaching school after graduation. One-fifth of the seniors at Smith college named teaching as their first choice for a post-graduate job.

Golf Course To Be Retained

Following an informal meeting between council, the park commission and representatives of the GNCA, councilmen in informal meeting today, in city hall, decided to retain Sylvan Heights Golf Course for at least one year, during which time it will be governed by a board of three directors.

Announcement of the foregoing was made by Mayor John F. Haven. Judging from the decision, it is anticipated a bid of $27,000, placed by Attorney Walter Kieler, representing would-be purchasers will be withdrawn, or will be rejected by council.

According to the plan agreed upon, city council will name a director, another will be named by the GNCA, and both council and the GNCA will select a third.

The board of directors will make recommendations to council.

Insofar as the personnel to be retained, or put on the city payroll, council will have entire voice.

Mexican Picture Making Cheaper

MEXICO CITY—(INS)—Plans are being made for filming a number of motion pictures in Mexican studios, using the English language and American actors.

Principal reason for the reported shift in location is the extremely low cost of picture making in Mexico as compared with production costs in the U. S. Salaries paid in pesos here are far lower than those in the states at the present exchange rate of eight and a half pesos to the dollar.

Shooting "on location" outside studios also are cheaper here. The area around Mexico City scenically is so diversified that it offers nearly every kind of natural background that might be needed—except seashore, of course.

The shift will mean an enormous increase in the dollar income of the Mexican cinema industry, which is badly in need of fresh financial support.

Songsters Remake Geography Book

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—Where Mother Nature has failed, Hoagy Carmichael has done it with a song. The Allegheny, Monongahela and Susquehanna rivers now meet in his song entitled "Three Rivers."

Any Pennsylvanian knows the Monongahela and Allegheny do meet to form the Ohio in downtown Pittsburgh. But the Susquehanna remains—or it did until the popular songwriter did a little handy-work with his song—in central Pennsylvania.

Hoagy said recently that he and lyricist Francis Webster hoped "the song would bring a rise out of somebody in Pennsylvania." He said they had "dashed" off the song in three days.

The composer of "Stardust" confessed: "Naturally we knew that all three rivers don't actually meet. I considered their headwaters, close enough to use the word 'meet'." Carmichael said they used the Allegheny, Monongahela and Susquehanna because they are "perfectly wedded" words.

At least, Hoagy pointed out, they knew how to spell the names.

Marine Vet
May Visit SonPacific Veteran
Released From Jail

Judge John G. Lamoree had a case with an international flavor Wednesday morning when he heard the surety of the peace case against Edward Clarke.

Clarke was born near Conway Castle in Wales, his parents are sugar growers in the Baradoes, he came to New Castle from Venezuela to see his son who is with his estranged wife. Prior to that time he had served in the Marines, married a Lawrence county girl, also in the Marine in South Carolina, and the couple lived in California following his discharge from service.

Clarke was in the fourth regiment of Marines, served in the action on Iwo Jima, Kwajalein, Saipan and others, and was wounded three times.

He was married to Lenore Klump of Pulaski while the two were in the Marines in South Carolina. After living sometime in California a divorce was applied for and in September 1949 an interlocutory decree was handed down. This does not become final until one year after it is granted.

Last October Clarke came to this county to see his son and visited the Klump home in Pulaski. An argument ensued and a surety of the peace charge was placed against him in the office of Justice of the Peace Joseph Francis of New Wilmington.

Clarke left before action was had and later went to Venezuela with an oil company. About ten days ago he returned and when he tried to see his son the warrant was served upon him and the Justice Francis sent him to the county jail where he has been since.

Judge Lamoree found that the California decree permitted him to see his 29-month-old son four hours per week and ruled that Clarke should be allowed to see the youngster here if the visit was in the detention home.

It was agreed that Clarke could see his son before he left for Chicago, but he cannot see him for a few days as the baby has a cold.

NO BUDGET ADOPTION
Scheduled for adoption on Wednesday, no action was taken by the county commissioners on the 1950 budget.

When Commissioner Harvey B. Bush moved that the general budget be adopted, Commissioner Travers asked what the millage was to be. He said he had not been consulted about the budget and wanted to know more about it. Action was then delayed until Friday.

TWO SENTENCES
Two sentences were handed down by Judge John G. Lamoree on Wednesday. Anna Wagner of New Castle received a suspended sentence on condition she pay the costs on an assault and battery charge.

Willie Worth of Youngstown was fined $100 and costs and given 30 days in the county jail for drunken driving. He will be released upon payment of the fine and costs.

TROUT FISHING IN WINTER

On a recent week end one of the best trout anglers in these parts invited me for a walk.

On the way out to our starting point we discussed the irregular results of most trout fishers.

"After the newly stocked trout are caught," commented Les, "the shedding becomes hard for the average fisherman simply because he doesn't know the stream as well as he should."

"A good fisherman gets to know a stream," I countered.

"He doesn't get to know it very well if he confines his fishing only to the open season."

"What do you mean?" I asked, frankly puzzled.

"He should do some of his fishing in the winter," grinned Les. "Huh?" I came back, wondering if I had heard aright.

Before Les had a chance to explain, the car ground to a stop at the bridge over the Little Neshannock just east of New Wilmington.

"Wait, I'll show you what I mean," he said as he slid out of the car and started upstream.

After walking along in silence for a couple of hundred feet, Les stopped and pointed to a spot in midstream. "See that rock over there, where the water sluices around the bend?"

"Yeah, but it's much too fast for a trout to live in," I observed.

"It was until I threw in several sizable rocks a couple of weeks ago. They slowed it down enough to form a nice pocket for the fish."

Even a cursory examination showed it to be a fine setup, the current swirling around the rocks and then fanning out into a fast eddy with a surface placid enough to float the jauntiest fawning. Upon closer inspection it was observed that the added rocks not only reduced the current's speed, but also washed out a sizable hole on the downstream side.

We continued on to a pool. Les lit his pipe. "I often sit alongside this pool and pretend I'm a fish," he opened. "And if I were a hefty rainbow," he continued rapidly so as to leave no opening for a wisecrack, "I'd park just back of those rocks where that overhanging branch sweeps the surface. You can see for yourself that I'd have the feel of the current, plenty of foraging room and the protection of that tree. Then, too," he added, "I'd be far enough away from the deep water so as to be unmolested by the big brownie that lives there."

"And you'd be a sucker for a nicely handled hackle floated down to you on that swirlly eddy over there," I cut in.

"You're learning fast," smiled my friend.

For a mile or more Les had comments for every likely looking spot. In no time I had the spirit of the thing.

An hour later when we climbed back into the car, I couldn't help but think of how Les' splendid idea would pay off in both fun and more fish. Right there I resolved to do more winter fishing.

A total of nearly 13,000,000 hunting licenses were issued last year. Pennsylvania's 878,669 figure was topped only by Michigan's 977,879.

It would pay any one who is interested, to visit the fine, large pond that W. C. Williams had bulldozed on his Butler road property. Minnows are not young fish, but a specific family of fishes just as are the sunfishes, catfishes, etc. Some minnows reach a weight of 80 pounds. Crows are more plentiful today than when Columbus discovered America.

Find Use For Lindbergh Estate

Almost eighteen years after the kidnapping and murder of Charles August Lindbergh Jr., the State of New Jersey has at last found a constructive use for the luxurious house and the 400-acre estate from which the baby was stolen March 1, 1932.

The estate, which the grieving parents gave to the commonwealth fifteen years ago, will open next July as a state institution for the treatment of mentally ill juvenile delinquents.

The isolated estate, on doubly named Sourland Mountain near Hopewell, N. J. (Northwest of Princeton), has been untenanted except by a caretaker since Charles and Anne Lindbergh fled the place and its memories soon after the tragedy.

Gave Estate To State

When the Lindberghs gave the estate to New Jersey fifteen years ago, there was much speculation that the commonwealth would turn it into a shelter for orphans and homeless children.

But the very isolation of the place, which was one of its chief charms for the Lindberghs when they bought acreage and built on Sourland Mountain and which proved so helpful to Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the commission of his shocking crime, made it inadvisable to use it as a home for normal children.

However, the state whose Republican governor, Alfred E. Driscoll, is making a frontal attack on juvenile problems, has decided to integrate the Lindbergh place with an interesting experiment with children who run foul of the law.

Will Send Youngsters

Youngsters will be sent to the Lindbergh retreat from the Annandale Reformatory and from the new and experimental diagnostic center at Menlo Park, long famous as the home of the late Thomas A. Edison's laboratories.

New Jersey kids who get into trouble are now sent to the Diagnostic Center for observation and analysis by experts prior to sentence by the courts. Thus the judges will, in each instance, have the benefit of expert advice in meting out justice.

For a small fee, parents whose kids are always getting into trouble may take their children to the Diagnostic Center for analysis and advice before such children get into real trouble with the law.

Mentally ill youngsters will be sent to the Lindbergh estate, which is being prepared to care for 20 such delinquents and an institutional staff. That staff will include physicians, psychiatrists and educators.

Advanced Treatment

Advanced psychiatric treatment is planned, in hope that the young "patients" will be ready for discharge in five months at most. This is approximately one-third the average sentence at Annandale.

"We hope to produce better citizens," says Gov. Driscoll. "We also hope to avoid jails, too often the breeding ground of young criminals."

Although it has been untenanted for so many years, the former Lindbergh house is in excellent condition. Once in the sad past, it was a mecca for the curious. But the roadway fell into disuse and people lost interest. Even the state police, posted there so long to protect the property from souvenir hunters, withdrew eight years ago.

The young mother and father who gave up their home in despair and grief so long ago are now, although the word seems oddly inappropriate, middle-aged. For some years they have lived quietly on a country estate near Darien, Conn., fifty miles from New York, with their five children, three boys and two girls.

But at last their first home from which they turned in horror, is to be put to splendid use. The little boy who was Charles August Lindbergh Jr., is to have a living memorial in the reconstructed lives of other children.

Large Quantity Of Spuds Reported

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The agriculture department reports that as of February 1 total salable potato stocks amounted to almost 119 million bushels.

That was 13 per cent more than the 105 million bushels growers and dealers held a year earlier, and only two per cent less than the 1947 all-time high.

Russia Is Not Ready To Talk On Atom Says British Statesman

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—A spokesman for the British foreign office said that he has seen "no evidence of any willingness of the Soviets to resume talks" on international control of atomic energy.

The spokesman added: "From the British view, evidence of such willingness would be for the Soviet delegates to resume their place in the (U.N.) Atomic Energy Commission from which they walked out."

"There is no sign of the Soviet retracting."

The announcement of the foreign office spokesman was in contrast to the views of some diplomatic observers in London who expressed belief that Russia may be considering a new move to break the atomic deadlock.

The London Daily Mail in a dispatch from Stockholm asserted that foreign correspondents in Moscow have been permitted to file stories on the possibility of Soviet willingness to renew talks on international controls of the atom.

(At Lake Success, Russia replied to a U.S. charge that further atomic control negotiations were futile by declaring that the "illegal presence of Nationalist China alone was responsible for the Soviet walkouts at the United Nations.") skins, was shown in a waist length cape and a full length stole.

I. J. Fox, furrier who developed the innovation in animal skins, announced that only these two pieces are now in existence. But more steel blue minks are on the breeders' farms.

steel mink is classed with white mink, last year's big fashion sensation.

In connection with the national observance of Brotherhood Week, New Castle Kiwanis Club was entertained with a program staged by a group of students from George Washington Junior high school.

HUGE TRAILER RUNS INTO HOTEL IN GARY, IND.

GARY, IND.—A huge trailer truck out of control plowed through a taproom run by Tony Zale, ex-middleweight champ, and ripped through into the lobby of Frank's hotel, an ancient Gary landmark. No Time Now To Send Peace Envoy To Soviet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—President Truman said today he does not think now is the time to send a special peace envoy to Moscow but reiterated that the U. S. is keeping the door open for any Russian move to end the cold war. Mr. Truman refused at his news conference to comment directly on Winston Churchill's proposal for a new "top level" conference with Stalin.

However, he quickly amplified his refusal by emphasizing that the door is open to any head of a state who will come to Washington to talk about peace.

Mr. Truman was reminded that he was quoted this week as having said he would have sent Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow in 1948 except for the Presidential campaign and that he might send Vinson to Russia some time in the future. At first reluctant to comment, the President finally said he does not think this is the time to send a special envoy to talk with Stalin. Mr. Truman said that his invitation to Soviet Premier Stalin to come to Washington to talk about world peace remains open, and always has been open.

Martinsburg Mayor Will Resign Job

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 16.—(INS)—Mayor Roy H. Stotler said he would submit his resignation today to the Martinsburg city council because he opposes the charter change which would institute the council-city manager type of government.

He said further that illness in his home influenced his decision to resign.

Mayor Stotler claimed Martinsburg's indebtedness has been reduced from $52,000 to $20,000 since he took office in October, 1949.

He added he hoped to get the city entirely out of debt by June 30 but that the additional $4,000 cost for staging an election on the charter change would prevent balancing the budget.

His term would have run to July 1. He was appointed in 1949 to fill the unexpired term of Carl L. Wellinger, who died.

Power Failure Empties Town

FLOWERFIELD, Ill., Feb. 16.—(INS)—The ice-battered little suburban community of Flowerfield, 45 miles west of Chicago, illustrates perfectly what happens to modern living when the electricity goes off.

From late Monday, when ice-laden power lines began to snap, until today, Flowerfield was without electricity as were a score of other Illinois towns hit by a crippling ice and sleet storm.

More than 80 per cent of the residents moved in with relatives in Chicago and nearby suburbs. They began returning when full power came on again today. Some two dozen families stuck it out during the power-famine.

Opossums, when born, are usually little more than a half-inch long, and they grow up to weigh as much as 12 pounds.

Christian Church Fights For Freedom

DECREES GENTILES NEED NOT COMPLY WITH MOSES' LAW

Acts 15:1-35 Galatians 2

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Freedom—a magic word that we hear and read so much about! We have fought devastating wars to preserve it in our own country and others, but millions of people in the world do not have it—may not have it for generations.

Hope and trust in God and His future for use must be ours, and we must work constantly toward the goal of freedom (within the law) for all men everywhere, which is our ideal.

In this lesson we see the early church's first battle for freedom fought and won. Some of the Pharisaical Jewish Christians from Jerusalem had come to Antioch preaching that Gentiles need not be followers of Christ and saved by His sacrifice unless they followed the old law of Moses' and were circumcised. This was disputed by Paul, Barnabas and others.

The Antioch church members decided to send these two apostles and others—a mixed group—to Jerusalem to discuss the matter with the elders there and see if they could get an agreement on this point.

The group passed through Phenice and Samaria, preaching the conversion of Gentiles, and causing great joy "unto all the brethren."

They were received gladly by the elders of the church and apostles, and they related all the things that God had done with them. "But there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees which believed, saying that it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them (the Gentiles) to keep the law of Moses."

Peter, the acknowledged leader, rose and said that they knew that "a good while ago, God made choice among us, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the gospel, and believe."

"And God, which knoweth the hearts, bare them witness, giving them the Holy Ghost, even as He did unto us; and put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith."

"Now therefore why tempt ye God, to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear? But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they."

The multitude kept silence, giving attention to Barnabas and Paul who told of the miracles and wonders God had wrought among the Gentiles through them.

Then James, brother of Jesus, arose and quoted the prophets, and his sentence was that they do not trouble the Gentiles who turned to the Lord.

After this it was decided unanimously that the church should send letters by Paul and Barnabas and also Judas (surnamed Barsabbas) and Silas, chief men among the brethren, to the Gentiles to tell them that if they abstained from certain practices—not eating meat before offered to idols, or strangled, and lived pure lives, they could freely belong to the church of God.

When these letters were read to the congregations, they caused great joy among the disciples in Antioch, Syria and Cilicia.

"I am the light of the world."

"For freedom did Christ set us free: stand fast therefore, and be not entangled again in a yoke of bondage."—Galatians 5:1.

The letters also said that it seemed good to the brethren in Jerusalem to send "chosen men unto you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul; men that have labored their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. We have sent therefore Judas and Silas, who shall also tell you the same things by mouth."

Judas and Silas were prophets as well as preachers, and they stayed awhile—Silas staying longer than Judas—and Paul and Barnabas continued on in Antioch, teaching and preaching.

Thus a crisis was wisely avoided which might have split the church wide open.

In his letter to the Galatians, written some years later, Paul reproved Peter who, in a weak moment, had abstained from eating with uncircumcised Gentiles because some Jews resented his doing so.

"A man is not justified by the works of the law," wrote Paul (a Jew himself), "but by the faith of Jesus Christ . . . for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified."

Accidents Result Of False Alarm

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Here's what happened to a police wagon which answered a fire alarm yesterday in Pittsburgh.

(1) The siren caught fire. (2) Lieutenant Sylvester Stoehr tried to fix it and burned his right hand. (3) The vehicle skidded into a truck, causing injury to the lieutenant and a patrolman.

Arriving finally at the scene, police found it was a false alarm.

Lake Titicaca in South America, with its 12,500-foot elevation, is the highest lake in the world on which steamboats regularly ply.

Union Township Residents Note

Effective Saturday, Feb. 18, at 12 o'clock Noon, and each Saturday noon thereafter, the fire siren in Union Township will be sounded for test.

Home Town Changed Since Russians Came Says German Student

DELAWARE, O.—(INS)—A German youth who returned to his native town now under Russian occupation said he felt like he was in a "strange country."

Horst Lunau, a foreign exchange student at Ohio Wesleyan university, said he was admitted to the Russian zone after a seven-hour border examination and had to leave all books, magazines and newspapers behind.

Taken prisoner by American troops near Nuremberg just before the close of the war, Lunau worked in France as a translator for the YMCA and later hitchhiked back to Germany to his native Stettin on the Baltic.

"I felt like I was in a strange country. Everywhere there were Russian troops and Russian writing. Red banners were stretched across the streets reading, 'we fight for this and we fight against that.'"

Lunau said the American zone cities were well lighted but the Russian occupied towns were only sparsely illuminated.

He said German universities are very crowded and in the Russian zone, every student must join the Communist or an affiliated party.

School Board Session Busy

Many Matters Are Before Members

One of the busiest sessions of the New Castle school board in months was held Wednesday night in the administration building in East street.

Eight members of the board were present, Mrs. Nancy D. Slater being the only one absent and the session lasted until midnight. Present as observers were some 25 citizens, representing PTA organizations.

Ralph L. Weide, of the senior high school faculty was granted a sabbatical leave for the second half of the present school term on account of his health.

Adult Classes Teachers
Six teachers were authorized for the adult classes in the evenings. Ida Lou Parish will have charge of clothing classes and the following registered nurses will have charge of home care for the sick classes: Pearl E. Hannon, Helen Venditto, Anna Mancino, Myra T. Swisher and Mary A. Cushman. The government pays part of the expense.

New Castle teachers who wish to apply for service as "exchange teachers" in foreign countries, Superintendent Frank L. Burton said two teachers of the New Castle schools were interested in serving as exchange teachers in either of the three countries open, England, France or Canada.

Any Socialism?
"I'm not so sure of the idea," said Director A. C. Hyde. "I don't know whether I want Socialism countries sending in teachers for our schools. England and France are both Socialists."

"Perhaps our teachers might teach them a little Democracy," suggested Dr. Wilbur B. Flannery. The motion passed. If the local teachers are accepted it would mean two foreign teachers coming her. In each case the district to which the teachers belong would pay the salaries.

The concessions will be located at Six-Penny picnic area in French Creek State Park, Berks County; the Tent and Trailer area in Hickory Run State Park, Carbon County; the Ralph Stover State Park in Bucks County; World's End State Park in Sullivan County and Black Moshannon State Park in Centre County.

Sidelights On City Hall Public Inspection

As visitors entered the beautiful lobby, which has marble walls and glass doors, they were greeted, then escorted throughout the building. Regardless of the time some official or attaché of city hall was waiting to show the splendor of the building.

Architects for the building, which was purchased through a bond issue, was the Eckles & Thayer firms, and the general contractors were, the Montgomery Construction company and the Matthews Leivo Sons, Inc. Various contracts were let to sub-contractors.

The building was profuse with flowers, forwarded by contractors, and others who had a share in the construction. Many friends of the officials and employees were also recipients of beautiful bouquets. Every girl wore a corsage and every male employee wore a rose.

During the evening, the various officials stayed in their individual offices, greeting the public as the taxpayers filed by. Thousands of words were spoken in praise of the building and those who did not verbally express their liking for the new edifice, apparently were charmed by its arrangement and cleanliness.

Many property-owners, upon visiting the Engineers department, asked and were shown on blueprints a description of their properties. Dr. W. A. Womer, city health bureau physician, also explained the affairs of his office, and J. K. Heess, city chemist, showed how tests of water and milk are made.

The office of City Clerk Jack Fritz, which in a way, may be termed the "heart of city hall life," the first office on the second floor, was filled. Mr. Fritz explained city hall procedure, and also how

State Wide War On Pollution Of Streams Planned

Flying Detectives To Be Organized To Hunt Offenders

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—(INS)—State agencies today are mobilizing "flying detectives" in an all-out war against air and stream pollution.

Mobile equipment will attack health hazards by land and air, in attempts to eliminate them through swift and certain action.

The Sanitary Water Board has initiated action to police strip mining operations from the air. Special Technical Adviser H. G. Knox said the board is instituting one-day-a-week patrols and will extend operations as the weather clears. With aerial photographs, he said, visible stream pollution can be detected.

Plan Mine Check
The "flying pollution detectives" will also check on whether mines are being operated contrary to Water Board instructions or in violation of an order to cease operation, Knox disclosed.

"For the time being," he said, the air unit will be used primarily to guide or corroborate the work of units on the ground.

"We can detect discharges from a plane," Knox said, "but we cannot detect their nature. However, aerial photographs can be used to supplement chemical analyses, and in time we might be able to photograph discharges in streams from any source."

Get Better View
"So, we can tell from the air whether a mine is being operated and we can get a better view of it," he asserted. "By that means we can obtain evidence for court to prove whether a shovel and bulldozer are really working."

For such tactics, Knox explained, a small, slow-flying plane is most practical. The slower the better.

A helicopter, however, is out of the question because of its original cost and expensive maintenance, Knox added.

Smog Control Detection
Suitability of air detection for "smog" control has gone as far as the talking stage but no farther, reports a spokesman of the Health Department's Bureau of Industrial Hygiene.

Assistant Director Joseph F. Mellor Jr., said that the bureau's land mechanization has come a long way, however, with a mobile chemical laboratory expected to be delivered in a month or two.

This mobile laboratory, according to Mellor, will carry equipment to sample air and make direct analyses in the field. In addition, it is to carry meteorological equipment for testing wind, rain, temperature, humidity, and barometric pressure.

The laboratory will be the first in the nation, Mellor reported.

To Expedite Work
"By eliminating the delay of getting samples back to Harrisburg, we hope to expedite the work of the bureau by getting on-the-spot, fast answers to air pollution problems," Mellor said.

Several communities already have requested tests by the mobile unit, which was built at an estimated cost of $10,000, he added.

"We hope to be able to develop instruments to the point of taking a sample of air and detecting what's in it in the way of harmful gases and types of dust through a half-hour sample, or even closer," Mellor explained.

BEAVER SEASON
HARRISBURG—The 1950 beaver season extends from 7:00 a. m. February 15 to noon, March 1. Only residents possessing a 1949 hunting license may take these furbearers and by the trapping method only. Nonresidents are not allowed to participate. A person may take not more than two (2) beavers in one day or over the entire season and may operate not

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16.—Even old Noah Webster admitted that originality and mimicry are opposites. But any actor who combines the two is liable to find himself up to his neck in hales of green bank notes and film fame.

Red Skelton used to roll the people in the aisle with his vaudeville act of imitating a woman taking off her panty girdle and stepping into a hot bath. He stepped out of the tub and smack into a juicy contract with MGM.

Audiences Thrilled
Fanny Brice did a takeoff on a kid called Baby Snooks. Fanny is old enough to be a grandma but Snooks has been on radio, stage, television and the movie screens for many years and still wails mightily.

Richard Haydn, one of Hollywood's top directors, emerged from obscurity by imitating the mating cry of the red-bellied gudgeon and the carp. The hilarious routine thrilled Britain's royal family and Broadway audiences long before it eventually ennobled Haydn in Hollywood.

One of the most profitable examples of imitations paying off is Larry Parks' mimicry of Al Jolson. It brought Jolson out of semi-obscure and brought fame and fortune to Parks.

Reginald Gardner made his name by imitating the sound of railroad trains.

How To Be Mimic
Billy DeWolfe has made a career of making like a real Boston lady whom he disguised thinly as Mrs. Murgatroyd—the matronly dame who stumbles into a bar for a short snort in her umpteenth wedding anniversary.

Amos 'n' Andy have been riding high in their fresh air taxicab for high onto 25 years.

Haydn, whose recent megaphoning chore was Bing Crosby's "Mr.

Music," at Paramount, offered an explanation for the success of imitators:

"To be a good mimic you must first be an acute observer, you must notice people, their manners, their idiosyncrasies. This observation is also the basis of good acting, so the two go hand in hand."

Tifereth Israel Friday Services

Early religious service at Tifereth Israel Synagogue will take place this Friday evening at 8:15 p. m. and the regular late service will be held at 8:15 p. m. in the Main Synagogue.

Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will preach upon the theme, "A Religious Definition of Knowledge," and discuss at the Oneq Shabbat Table, "The Life of Samson Raphael Hirsch," as portrayed in the nineteen Letters of Ben Uziel. Rev. Benjamin Miller, Cantor, will chant the special Sabbath liturgical readings.

Hospitality will be tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bobick and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosen.

British Royalty May Visit Australia

CANBERRA, Feb. 16.—(JNS)—Premier Robert Gordon Menzies announced Wednesday that the British royal family may visit Australia in the spring of 1952.

The royal family's scheduled visit to Australia and New Zealand last year was cancelled when King George was bedded by a circulatory ailment of his leg.

Medical treatment has reportedly improved the monarch's condition.

Virginia Governor Can Now Seize Mines

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 16.—(INS)—The Virginia General Assembly on Wednesday empowered Gov. John Battle to seize the state's strike-bound coal fields.

The bill, passed overwhelmingly by both houses, gives battle authority to seize the mines when it is in the "interests of the public welfare and requirements."

There are more than 14,000 miners currently idle in the old dominion.

Duff To Be Guest Of Bar Association

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff and Attorney General T. McKen Chidsey will be guests of honor at the annual banquet of the Dauphin County Bar Association March 11, at Harrisburg country club.

Col. John McI. Smith, president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, will be the evening's main speaker.

DENSE POPULATION
PROVIDENCE, (SP)—Rhode Island has a population density of 90 or more persons per square mile, and is the only state to have this ratio in every one of its counties.

Hope Of Saving Miner Slight

WHITESBURG, Ky., Feb. 16.—(INS)—Hopes for a miner trapped in a cave-in near Whitesburg, Ky., diminished today while a second victim of the accident is receiving hospital care.

Worley Dickenson, 59, of Pound, Va., was rescued late yesterday but the chances were slim for the survival of his companion, Dewey Rose, 49, also of Pound.

The men were caught behind 75 feet of falling timbers and coal late Tuesday. Hundreds of idle coal miners volunteered to aid in the search.

Dickenson, trapped for over 24 hours, told his rescuers he was positive Rose was killed by the slate fall. Dr. Bill Adams, a Mayking, Ky., physician, said Dickenson was suffering from exposure and shock but appeared to be all right. Dickenson was hospitalized for observation.

Gobel Adams, owner of the mine which is operating under a United Mine Workers contract, said he first heard the men calling for help after the accident.

USE COLORFUL CHERRIES FOR FEBRUARY DESSERTS

Nothing seems more appropriate for February desserts than the colorful, flavor-rich cherry. Canned or frozen, sweet or sour, cherries lend themselves to a variety of taste treats that brighten winter meals or parties.

Cherry pie and cherry cobbler are not the only way to serve this delicious fruit. A few unusual ways to dress up a cherry dish are here listed:

Drain canned or frozen cherries and fold them into cherry flavored gelatin. Pour into a ring mold. When ready to serve, garnish with whipped cream and sprinkle with slivered toasted almonds.

Sweeten canned or frozen cherries. Thicken the juice with cornstarch and fold in the cherries. Serve warm over a one-egg cake.

Try some chopped slivered almonds with the cherries for deep dish cherry pie. Add a little grated orange rind to the crust.

For that special party, make a cherry chiffon pie or try glazed cherry tarts. Here is a recipe:

Glazed Cherry Tarts

12 baked tart shells
2 packages frozen cherries
1/2-cup sugar
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind.

Thaw one package of cherries and add the sugar and cornstarch. Cook until thickened. Add grated lemon rind. Cool. Have the other package of cherries just barely thawed but icy cold. Fill the tart shells half full of the cold cherries and cover at once with the thickened mixture. Serve immediately, garnished with whipped cream and a dusting of cinnamon.

BEST SMALL FRUIT VARIETIES NAMED

As is the case with other farm crops, greater satisfaction with small fruits derives from planting the right varieties. Some of the best are listed:

Strawberries—Howard 17, also known as Premier, and Catskill. Both are heavy producers. Mastodon is the leader among everbearing varieties.

Grapes—white, Niagara; blue, Concord, or Fredonia if a shorter season variety is desired.

Raspberries—red, Latham and Newburg; black, Cumberland, Morrison, and New Logan.

Blackberries—Eldorado. Because disease problems may result, do not mix red and black raspberry plantings, nor either of these with blackberries.

Where space is limited, small fruits, such as these usually are better suited than the larger fruits. They come into production sooner, are easier to maintain, and provide a variety of delicacies for the table.

FIVE SUGGESTED TIPS FOR NEW FARMERS

Many new farmers, especially young men, find it difficult to develop a volume of business which will provide a satisfactory income. Some wait several years, before they have sufficient volume for efficient operation.

This need not happen. If they increase crop yields and livestock production, improve marketing practices, and pay particular attention to controlling farm expenses.

Here are five guides to new farmers:

1. Buy a farm only if you have ample capital. Avoid heavy debt for equipment, especially at present, unless equipment is absolutely necessary to carry on an efficient farm enterprise.

2. Keep debt within one-third of the value of the farm and equipment.

3. Buy or rent good land. It is more profitable to rent a good farm than to buy a poor one.

4. Farm where satisfactory marketing outlets are available. Try direct retail marketing to get a larger share of the consumer dollar.

Avoid increasing expenses on items of production that will not increase your earnings.

MANURE PROTECTS GRAIN IN WINTER

A light top-dressing of manure (5 to 6 tons per acre) put on winter grain when the ground is frozen will help protect the young plants. This treatment also reduces erosion and soil losses. But the greatest benefit is the help which the manure gives to insure a good catch and vigorous growth of clover or alfalfa sown in the spring. It can mean the difference between an excellent stand of clover and a very poor one.

Manure from stables where superphosphate is used in the gutters is especially good for top dressing winter grain where a spring seeding is to be made. The phosphate reduces the loss of nitrogen from manure left on the surface of the ground, and legume hay crops can be greatly benefited by liberal amount of phosphoric acid.

The manure can be applied with no damage to the grain where fields are frozen. Little loss of plant food will result from washing, except on rather steep slopes. Straw manure gives the most protection.

MARKETING PROGRAM IMPORTANT ON FARM

"How's business?" once was a greeting used mainly by the business men in town.

Today, most Lawrence County farmers realize that they are engaged in a business that has to be handled like any other business.

They know that they cannot continue to produce crops by old-fashioned methods, but need to keep up-to-date with new equipment, insecticides, crop varieties, and the like.

Likewise, they must keep abreast of new developments in marketing of their products. They are producing for the market, and like other manufacturers, must study and observe changes that are taking place in the demand for their products. The modern business-like farmer must keep abreast of new marketing methods to get his products to consumers in best condition at lowest cost.

New "Scuff-Proof" Whitewall Tire

A NEW "scuff-proof" whitewall tire that resists the scars and markings of curbside parking is compared with a conventional tire after both have been tested for non-scuff performance. The new type (shown above) has a "curb-guard" rib of rubber around the outer rim of the whitewall, so designed that it acts as a protective buffer against the curb. Developed by U. S. Rubber Company and different in design and styling, the new tire also features a special tread that virtually eliminates the need for chains in most kinds of winter driving.

Charges Lewis Is Monopolist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Sen. Robertson (D) Va., charged today John L. Lewis is a "monopolist" who can control the price as well as the production of coal.

Robertson prepared a statement for his appearance before a senate judiciary subcommittee considering his bill to void the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act as protection for unions if they "restrain trade" or take action affecting the national health and safety.

Robertson is the first scheduled witness on the bill. Lewis was invited to appear, but replied that he was occupied elsewhere. He is currently fighting injunction action in the federal courts and meeting with mine owners in new contract talks.

The Virginia senator asserted that Lewis is as much a "monopolist" as anyone in industry or business. He said that "no business combination of which I ever heard achieved the kind of arbitrary power and control" Lewis holds as head of the United Mine Workers. Robertson said:

"This country cannot afford dictators—government or private."

Two Youths Held As Suspects In 'Necktie' Slaying

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 16.—(INS)—Two youths were held in Lancaster today as suspects in the necktie-strangulation of David R. Clement, 24-year-old Merion Cricket club bellhop.

The youths, whom police said resemble the pair entertained by Clement son of a prominent Lowell, Mass., family, were arrested on suspicion as they hitchhiked westward.

Police said the youths carried two paper bags in which they said were found a supply of clothing including two knotted neckties.

The suspects told police they were headed toward Pittsburgh, from Philadelphia. Both had thick, wavy hair as in the police description of the pair believed to have visited Clement in his room at the fashionable club.

Clement, a University of Pennsylvania Shakespeare student, was found dead Tuesday morning. He had been strangled and bound to the bed with neckties.

Believes Soviets Lack Capacity To Make War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Johnson declared Wednesday that even if Russia "had the will to make war on the United States" he believes the Soviets lack "the capacity to do so."

Johnson told a meeting of federal, state, and municipal law enforcement officers that despite a record outback of 157,452 civilian jobs in the defense structure the U.S. has sufficient military strength for present needs.

He emphasized, however, that America must be ready to smash any aggressor's attack. The defense chief insisted that unification is necessary to prevent another Pearl Harbor and keep wasteful spending from "wrecking our economy so Communism can move in."

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

What Babies Like About Mothers

If only babies could talk, we might learn some pretty important things about better ways of caring for them. But as it is we only can make some pretty shrewd guesses about what they would say if they could talk.

Naturally, mother is the most important person in the baby's life; so his "ideas" about her should have top billing. Here are some of the things he tells us through his behavior—his cooing and his crying, his fussing and his gurgles.

"It's so nice when she holds me close and talks to me. I don't know what she's saying, but the way she talks, low and gentle, makes me feel good inside. I like it, too, when she's jolly, when she laughs and rolls me around or pulls me up and down by the arms. Sometimes when she hurries too much or sounds cross or perhaps even jerks me around, I feel all mixed up."

"I feel good, too, when she feeds me at the time I'm hungry. It's not much fun to be so hungry that you cry and cry. And I like to have dry, clean diapers. But most of all I like to feel close to her and have her hold me and sing to me or talk in that nice voice of hers."

No Favorites In Bonus Applications

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—(INS)—There'll be no special treatment given to any soldiers' bonus application regardless of who tries to exert influence, Bureau Director Clyde E. Rankin said today.

He gave an example of one application that came into the bureau yesterday which had a note pinned on the namecard of a high officer in a veteran's organization. The note read, "Take care of this boy, Bill."

On the face of it, the application was in order. It was sent to irregular claims section for closer scrutiny.

"I'll stay there until the bureau finds out why the veteran thought he needed influence to get it through," Rankin said.

It is believed that the art of knifing originated in Scotland about the beginning of the 16th century.

General Electric Head Says Federal Spending Dangerous

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Co., predicted that current federal taxing and spending programs will result in a lowered standard of living.

Wilson received a Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce award for "outstanding contributions to the economic and business life of the nation."

He told more than 1,000 industrial leaders present that President Truman's goal of a $300,000,000,000 annual national output in five years could be achieved, but the economic system would not thrive unless the budget was balanced and the national debt reduced.

Wilson declared it was necessary to "turn the tide of waste, extravagance and moral dishonesty which today characterizes the deliberations and calculated fiscal policy of this government."

For One Year Retirement Age Is Changed

For one year, the school year of 1951-52, the retirement age for public school teachers will be 66 in New Castle.

At the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday night the board decided to raise the retirement limit to 66 for one year in order to permit several teachers of the system to come under the provisions of the new retirement act.

Under those provisions any public school teacher who is employed during or after the 1951-52 school year may retire at age 65 with a pension increased over the present amounts.

Superintendent Frank L. Burton explained to the board there are several teachers in the school system who will be 65 before July 1, the effective date and under the ruling of the New Castle board would have to retire upon the old rate.

He suggested that these teachers had given long and faithful service, that they had taught when salaries were low, and that in fairness to them, it would be a just thing if the board would so revise its rules to permit them to come under the new rate of retirement.

The board agreed and teachers who reach 65 this year may teach another year. The 66 year retirement age is for the one year only. Following that the age limit reverts to 65.

Two Trucks And Auto Damaged Near Rose Point

Two trucks and an auto were damaged in a collision at 11:14 p. m. Wednesday, on Route 422, at Rose Point, according to state police. One of the trucks carried 21,000 pounds of explosives but no explosion occurred.

The police report that Mike Srein, North road, Baltimore, Md., was driving a truck and trailer east and Joseph Buchalski, Cedar avenue, Scranton was driving a truck, west.

The explosives were in Buchalski's truck. Srein's truck went off onto the berm and in returning it to the road, it went across the center line and struck the front end of Buchalski's truck, and, later struck a car driven by Edith Fern Martin, Warren, O.

All of the vehicles were damaged. No one was injured.

Charles Cronin Appointed To Manage New Castle Nats

Stockholders Nominate 21 Men For Board Of Directors

New Castle Nats baseball stock received a tremendous shot in the arm last night at the stockholders meeting in the Hotel New Penn. appointing Charles "Chuck" Cronin, of Tiffin, Ohio as the 1950 playing manager.

Alphonso "Al" Scarazzo general chairman and William F. DeCarbo co-chairman conducted an enthusiastic meeting with about 50 of the over 100 stockholders present. Several hundred more dollars was added to the already fast-growing fund.

Has Fine Record

The newly appointed manager has a fine record in organized baseball with a wealth of personality and experience. He managed the Raleigh, North Carolina team to a third place finish in the Carolina Class B league last year. He has seen service with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league, being a right-handed pitcher.

Cronin comes here highly recommended by both Washington and the Cleveland Indians, the latter team having invited him to their training camp at Daytona Beach, Florida for a two-weeks spell and have promised to give him playing material. Glenn "Gyp" Lewis, chief scout, represented the Cleveland baseball club at the meeting here last night. He has considerably impressed by the local set-up.

Nominate 21 Directors

Nominations were made for the Board of Directors of the club with 21 men being placed in nomination. There will be nine directors chosen at the meeting called for next Wednesday at the Hotel New Penn. at 7:30 o'clock.

Chairman Al Scarazzo and Attorney Frank Moretti were appointed by the stockholders to represent the New Castle Nats at the Mid-Atlantic league meeting at the Castleton hotel Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Will Elect Nine

The following men were placed in nomination for the directorship: Al Scarazzo, William F. DeCarbo, William W. Smeal, Anthony Conn, Rocco Vitale, Preston Flaherty, "Buffalo" Cialella, Arthur Priorelli, Angelo Conti, Bob Houk, Frank Moretti, Samuel D'Ambrasia, J. S. Riley, Joseph Garzas, Danny DiCarlo, Gus Slovinsky, Joe Factor, John DeMonaco, Ken Daugherty, Domenick Sylvester and William Semler.

The nine men receiving the highest number of votes next Wednesday will become members of the Board of Directors. The directors will in turn elect their own officers, president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Contracts Sent to Eight

It was announced that contracts have been sent to eight players with one young man Pat Vastano, of Brooklyn, N. Y., having signed and sent his contract back, he is an infielder candidate, contracts went to such well known 1949 Nat stars as Eugene Bilo, of Ellwood City, an outfielder; Hilly Shapiro, of Brooklyn, an outfielder; Ty Corbet, a utility player, and the following pitchers: Frank Wagner, Herb Churchill, Bob Cook, Mike Giardullo and Paul Congemi. Gordon Greene, a young hurler from Virginia has asked for and will receive a tryout here, as will Charles Dyson, a young first sacker of Buffalo, N. Y., who was with the Chicago American Giants.

Richardson Undecided

The New Castle Nats are in the process of buying the contract of Lou Shine Richardson, a catcher from the Youngstown club. Richardson will give the local men his decision to play in a week from his home in Kentucky.

Meanwhile more and more stock is being sold at $10.00 per share, not more than 100 shares to any individual, group or faction. The papers of incorporation are ready to be signed and sent to Harrisburg, Attorney Moretti announced.

WHAT! Only a quart of oil? The Roxbills don't scrimp young man—put in 5 gallons!

Five gallons is a lot of oil, Mrs. Roxbills. Frankly we'd rather sell that surplus to lots of folks, we know, who sure as shootin' are going to burn out a bearing for the lack of it.

Sharon Tigers Top Canes 45-34

Victory Keeps Sharon In Section Three Race Mathematically

New Castle high folded in the last period Wednesday night and dropped to Sharon 45-34 on the Hickory high floor.

Leading at the end of the third quarter 28-27, the Hurricane passers couldn't hold the Sharon Tigers and were outscored 18-6 in that last frame.

New Castle got off to a 10-7 lead in the first quarter but dropped behind in the second. The Canes outscored the Tigers 13-7 in the third frame to take the lead for the last time.

Anthony Vitale led New Castle in scoring with 10 points, followed by Dick Lewis with eight. Reginald Franczkowski led Sharon with 18.

Ellwood Next Tuesday

The loss pushed the Canes further into the league cellar and enabled the Tigers to keep their mathematical chance for the league title.

Ellwood City plays at New Castle next Tuesday in the final for both teams. A win then for the Hurricanes could give them some company in last place.

In the preliminary games the Sharon JV's dumped the New Castle JV's 40-29. Pia scored 10 and Carbone scored eight for New Castle.

Present at the meeting were Rocco Viggiano, president; Cam Benicase, secretary; Nick George, Tempy Temperato, Ralph Cennamo, Louis Santangelo, Jimmy Valentino, Andy Benigas, Art Alexander, Eddie Nahas, Carm DeLeone, Bird Riley, Gus Slovinsky, treasurer, Fred Marcella, Harry Reith and Charles Moser.

Thomas Stepping Out As High Floor Coach

George "Gig" Thomas who has coached the New Castle Senior High school basketball team for two years has notified the New Castle school board he will not be a candidate for the position for next year.

Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, chairman of the Athletic committee told the board Wednesday night that Mr. Thomas had informed him of his decision.

Job Thrown Open

Mr. Thomas told Dr. Jackson that coaching football and basketball took too much of his time away from his family and therefore he would not be a candidate for the coaching post for 1951.

With this much advance notice the board will now be in position to make a comprehensive canvass for a coach.

Wampum Seeks Title Clincher Tomorrow Night

East Brook In Finale At Mounties; Shenango Meets N. Wilmington

Wampum High school basketball team can clinch the Section 24 championship tomorrow night at Bessemer.

The Indians can lose both of their remaining games and still tie for the leadership, and a single win from either of their remaining opponents, Bessemer and New Wilmington, will mean the title.

Bessemer fell before the Indians 57 to 44 earlier this season at Wampum and on the strength of the Cementers' poor 2 and 8 record the championship will probably be signed, sealed and delivered by late tomorrow evening.

Second Place Race

Mt. Carmel and East Brook, the two teams that are still in the race, mathematically meet on the Mounties' hardwood. East Brook took the defending champions 53 to 26 in a first round engagement at East Brook. Both clubs have lost to Wampum on successive playing engagements. Second place in the league will probably go to the winner and the Webster crew would like to even up the season's series with the Eagles.

The contest will be East Brook's last in league play. Bud Mayberry, Bob Smith and Bill Pontius end their high school careers in this game. These boys have been the "Big Three" in the Eagle campaign this season which has come very close to a crown winning performance.

Shenango Away

Shenango travels to New Wilmington. Fourth place will be at stake. The Greyhounds won the first encounter from the Wildcats, 54 to 35.

Union draws a bye.

SECTION SHORTS:

Ten men have connected for 10 or more points in league play to date. Don Schena paces the pack with 186. Tom Hutchison has 163, and Pat Kerr has 180. . . . Others in the select circle are Bob Anderson, 156; Albert Armortorio, 151; Bob Smith and Walt McGinnis, 131; Bud Mayberry, 128; Dick Pitzer, 106; and Caesar Craine, 100. . . . Caesar has little trouble getting the ball dislodged when it stuck between the rim and the bankboard Tuesday night. . . . Pat Kerr has connected for 60 points in his last two games.

Pulaskis Battle Terrace Tonight

The K. Pulaski "Big Five" will resume action tonight meeting the local Terrace Avenue quintet at the K. P. Hall at 8:15 p. m. Coping their last three starts the Pulaskis will be gunning for their fourth win in succession.

Sunday at the K. P. Hall the Pulaskis will meet the strong Mt. Jackson V.F.W. Post 315, who recently defeated the East Brook Boosters at the East Brook High School floor.

Local New Coach

The old veteran Joe "Peanuts" Hnat has been named as the new K. Pulaski "Big Five" coach. Coach Hnat has compiled so far three straight victories since taking over the coaching duties.

The Puaskis will definitely join the sponsored Optimist City-Country Tourney, along with the Hubbard, and East Liverpool Tourneys following.

AS SATCHEL PAIGE leaves the confines of the Indians to go back to barnstorming the mystery of his age still remains.

Marsh Samuel, able publicist of the Cleveland Indians, had the best take-off on Old Satchmo's birth status with the following lines in his 1949 baseball brochure. Her 'tis:

"Born in Mobile, Ala., on either July 17, Sept. 11, Sept. 18 or Sept. 22, somewhere between the years 1900 and 1908."

Whether Satchel was 49 or 50 is of no moment, however, for the old boy was and is a character the likes of which few of us will see again in the major leagues.

Satchmo helped Cleveland win the pennant in 1948 when he came up late in the season and won six games, six important games.

His crowd appeal was terrific. When he made his first start, against the lowly Nats, a crowd of 72,000 jammed the Cleveland ball park, cheering his every move, including that famous "hesitation" pitch.

And, when he pitched his next home assignment, against the eighth-place Chicago White Sox, the fans stormed the park and set a new all-time night game record of 78,363.

In other cities, too, Paige had 'em jamming the gates. For both Satch and the hall club, the acquisition of Paige by Bill Veech was well worth it.

Coaches' Bonus Plan Is Lost

School Board Is Split 4-4 On Issue

No bonuses for senior high football coaches appears probable under the action of the New Castle school board Wednesday night.

A motion to lift from the table a resolution directing added remuneration for the coaches was defeated when the eight members present split four-four and the motion was lost. It is unlikely another attempt will be made to bring the matter before the board.

A month ago the athletic committee recommended that $200 be paid Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh, $150 each to Assistant Coaches George Thomas, William Klee, George Bender and Band Director Joe F. Replogle, and $100 each to Business Manager J. H. Earl McKenzie, Faculty Manager Robert Mills and Equipment Manager Robert Stewart.

The reason for the suggested bonus was the fact that New Castle had won the WPIAL championship for the second consecutive year and the championship game in Pittsburgh returned some $6900 to the athletic fund of the school.

The matter was tabled a month ago. Last night Director Paul J. Cuba moved the motion he lifted from the table and the following vote was had. For lifting it, Paul J. Cuba, Dr. A. L. Hoffmaster, A. C. Hyde and Dr. W. Fulton Jackson.

For letting it lay, Joseph R. Hensley, Mrs. Elizabeth Kleckner, Alec Samuels, Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery.

Optimists Plan Cage Tourney

Set Playing Dates First Week In March

Entries are now being accepted for the City-County basketball tournament to be held at George Washington Junior high March 1-4, and 6, 7.

This is the annual Optimist sponsored tournament. The local civic club uses the proceeds to further its work among boys in the community.

Board Approves

Last night the New Castle school board officially approved the dates and granted permission for the Optimists to use the junior high gym.

The first 16 teams to submit entries at Gus's Store on East Washington street will be accepted. Entry fee is $10.00 per team.

Last year's winner, United Engineering, is expected to defend its title. Other top-flight teams from the city and county are also welcome.

Final Word

The tournament annually is the decisive factor in the independent basketball question "Who's on First?" It also is usually accepted as the last word on champions. After a season of claims and counter-claims, roster changes, and so-called "championship" games, the Optimist tourney winner is considered the real champion of the county.

Single game admissions this year will be 50 cents tax included. A tournament ticket which includes admission for all 16 games is $2.00 tax included.

Joe Gordon Signs

Cleveland Contract

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Joe Gordon, the "Old Pro," will be back at second base for the Cleveland Indians this season.

The fancy-fielding second sacker agreed to return for the same base pay he received last year—about $30,000, but with no bonus clause attached. Last season Joe received an extra $2,500 through that clause.

New York Yankee Owners Are 'Sharing The Wealth'

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Editor)
NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The New York Yankees made so much money last season that they are almost certain to have one of baseball's most contented clubs in the 1950 pennant scramble. They are sharing the wealth.

According to reliable reports the club management toyed for a time with the idea of cutting the salary of Joe DiMaggio the maximum of 25 per cent allowed by baseball law, but finally backed away from this unpopular notion and gave him the full treatment again.

The accepted estimate on his paycheck is $100,000 a season. Whatever it was last season, it will be the same this year. He is happy and ready for his 13th whirl with the world champions.

Rizzuto Satisfied
Phil Rizzuto also signed without more than a tentative quibble to do the shortstop again in his own inimitable, short-legged way and the others will fall in as sumo.

The Yankees must get rid of money one way or another, taxes or otherwise, and are passing some of the swag on to their hired hands.

In DiMaggio's case, he is being paid the all-time top salary for playing in slightly less than half of his club's games. That is as though you were to be given a fancy salary for coming to work only occasionally.

Slight Difference
There is this slight difference, however. You wouldn't be worth much to your boss showing up for work about half of the time. Ask your boss about it.

DiMaggio was finally the difference between the pennant and a scuffle to keep out of the second division. The Yankees went to the front from the start and were kept there through the stretch by the big fellow.

One of the great sports thrills of these times came in mid-summer when, after 65 games of the season had elapsed, DiMaggio entered the Yankee lineup for the first time at Boston and went on a home run hitting spree.

He personally won games when the Yankees needed them, but he did more than that. He gave the club the lift it needed when the players themselves must have begun to wonder what was holding them up.

Joe Carried Load
He more than anybody except perhaps Rizzuto and Joe Page, the relief pitcher, made that pennant possible. He, more than anybody on the club, attracted customers into the park. He was worth the $100,000, if that is what he was paid.

He probably pulled that much through the gates through his magnetism as a ball player, and, of course, helped to a marked extent in getting the Yankees that world series cut.

Rizzuto, Page, Tommy Henrich and several others contributed to the cause. The Yankees had to be a great team to win as they did in spite of enough injuries to stop a couple of clubs.

New Campaign Being Planned

Truckers To Seek Weight Concessions; Other State News

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Motor Truck association is shaping a campaign indicating plans for a new campaign to win new truck weight concessions from the General Assembly in 1951. . . . In its circulating material drafted by the American Trucking associations showing that the spread on dual-wheeled trucks is similar to that which enables a man to walk on snowshoes without sinking in. . . . The association claims that multiple axles plus low-pressure tires, each costing $1,000 or more, scientifically distributes the weight of huge trucks "to completely minimize the possibility of damage to the highway." . . . The new approach differs from the state association's earlier stand. . . . During past sessions of the legislature, spokesmen for the industry heatedly denied that trucks were responsible for the damage to roadways claimed by road engineers and opponents of relaxing weight laws.

Congressman John Crain Kunkel of Harrisburg is the forgotten man so far in all the slatemaking hullabaloo between factions outwardly captained by Governor Duff and National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett. . . . Kunkel opposes Duff for the U. S. senatorial nomination. . . . A conscientious lawmaker with something of a liberal record in Congress, Kunkel announced his candidacy for the U. S. Senate last December, said he would not withdraw and a little later made one speech in which he lambasted the daylight out of Duff. . . . Then he dropped out of sight. . . . A writer for a national magazine seeking to interview Kunkel was unsuccessful. . . . Kunkel has never claimed Owlett's backing and neither has Owlett said that the congressman is to be the candidate supported by men associated with former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy. . . . However, the impression has been created by Duff's aides that Kunkel was injected into the senatorial race by Owlett or his lieutenants.

The State Department of Internal Affairs has compiled a list of mayors in 50 Pennsylvania cities. . . . 85 shows Republicans have been elected 28 mayors and Democrats 22. Fourteen cities now having GOP mayors and 12 cities headed by Democrats will choose new heads in November, 1951. . . . The others will elect in 1953, according to the department. . . . The list embraces the 47 third-class cities plus Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton.

Eddie Randolph, employed in the Public Utility Commission's mail room for the past 10 years, doubles as butler for screen and stage actor Walter Abel every other er week end in New York City. . . . He has held the part-time post for a little more than five years. . . . Each summer Randolph spends at Abel's cottage on Racket lake in upstate New York in the same capacity and he considers it his vacation.

Today's dotting parents who work overtime to protect their offspring from overexposure and the like probably frown on the custom of Indian mothers during the early days of Pennsylvania. . . . William Penn, in a letter to the Free Society of Traders in London in 1683 wrote pleasantly of the virgin countryside and the Indians, according to the Department of Internal Affairs which disclosed the letter. . . .

"Of their customs and manners there is much to be said," Penn wrote. "I will begin with children; so soon as they are born they wash them in water; and while very young, and in cold weather to chuse, they plunge them in the rivers to harden and embolden them. Having wrapt them in a cloth, they lay them on a strait, thin board a little more than the length and breadth of the child, and swaddle it fast, upon the board, to make it straight; wherefore all Indians have flat heads; and thus they carry them on their backs." . . .

IDLE EMPLOYABLES
HARRISBURG—At the beginning of 1950, approximately 23,000 employable but unemployed persons in Pennsylvania were receiving public assistance. This group amounted to about 5.5 per cent of the total number of unemployed in the state.

The Japanese empire was founded in 660 B. C. by Jimmu Tenno, legendary descendant of the sun goddess.

Claim Miners Have Not Been Instructed To Return To Work

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 16.—(INS)—The Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers association today appealed to District 2 of the United Mine Workers to get its members back to work.

In telegrams addressed to district and local officers, the association pointed out that its mines have been ready for work this week "in accordance with the direction of governmental authorities," but the miners have not reported.

The operators further claim that they can not find that the miners have been instructed to go back to work, as required by the Taft-Hartley injunction issued in Washington.

Some 35,000 miners are on strike in central Pennsylvania.

LICENSES REVOKED

HARRISBURG — In the week ending January 27 the Bureau of Highway Safety withdrew the cards of 669 drivers. Of this number 62 were revoked and 607 suspended. Operating privileges were restored to 485.

Wants $50,000 For Serving Time After Cussing Out Marine

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(INS)—Sailor William E. Babbitt, 23, thinks that a Bluejacket can cuss out a Marine without endangering his professional career.

Babbitt, an apprentice seaman, backed his belief with a $50,000 damage suit filed in district court. He named as defendants Rear Adm. G. B. Davis, commandant of the Potomac River Naval command, and members of a court martial that sentenced him to the Norfolk, Va., brig and a bad conduct discharge.

Babbitt said his only defense was telling a Marine shore patrolman what he thought of him outside a Washington restaurant last October. He didn't, he averred in his suit, think this merited six months in the brig and the discharge.

Picture Puzzles Make Comeback

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Picture puzzles are coming back. In 1950, the picture puzzle industry will sell 20 million puzzles, according to Horace Hart, president of Playtime House, Rochester, whose own company produces 20 percent of the total.

Mr. Hart doesn't know why. Not since 1933 has the picture puzzle business been so good. One national chain of variety stores has upped its purchases 300 percent since last year and is buying puzzles for all ages from two years up.

The peak of the picture puzzle season comes in January and February, the hard, cold months of the year when the family stays close to the hearth.

Buying Again
According to Mr. Hart, the picture puzzles start with seven or eight piece nursery rhyme subjects designed for two year olds, and are then graded all the way up to 1,000 piece sets for adults which will give a week's workout to the whole family.

During the time when the craze subsided, Hart continued to do a nice business with nursery schools, hospitals, the Red Cross, and the Veterans Administration. But now the average family is buying again. All of the Harts are puzzle fans, and they go into training each fall. By January, five year old daughter, Nancy, will be working out on 300 piece sets.
